Foreword

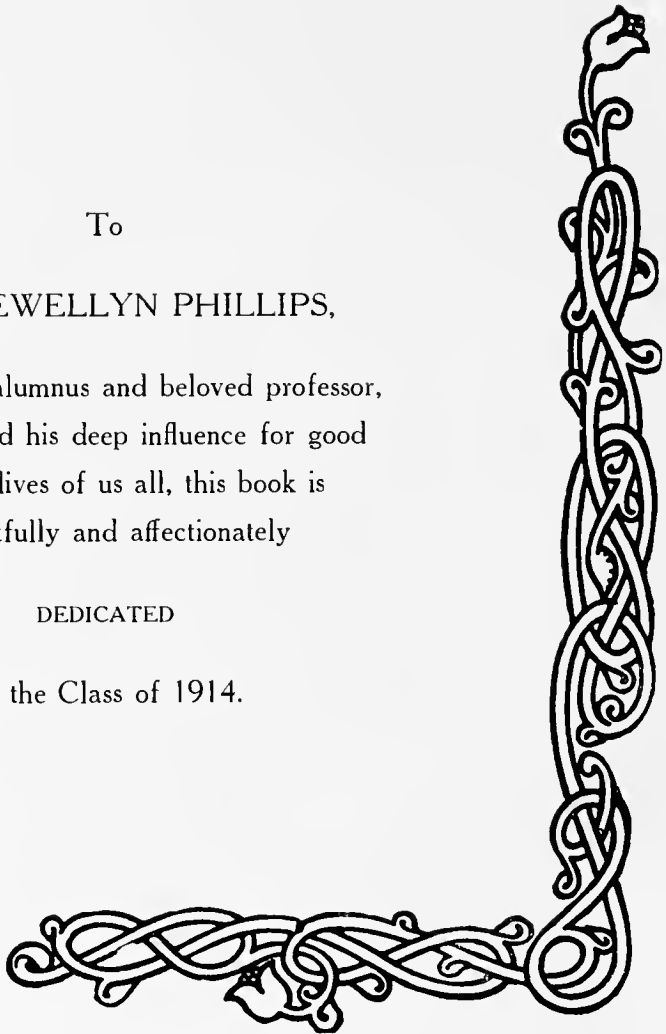

UHAT we may be able to look back upon the numerous events of our brief and happy stay within the beloved walls of our college; that our friends may better appreciate the serious and frivolous sides of student life; that the friendships formed here may be perpetuated throughout all time; that our love for Alma Mater may be nourished and increased, we humbly present to all who have been under the influence of our honored College, to those who are our fellow students, and to all friends of Bucknell everywhere, this, our 1914 L'Agenda.

To
DR. LLEWELLYN PHILLIPS, our honored alumnus and beloved professor, who has shed his deep influence for good over the lives of us all, this book is respectfully and affectionately

DEDICATED

by the Class of 1914.

Alma Mater

HERE the Susquehanna murmurs
Through the mountained vale
Stands our noble Alma Mater,
Whom in love we hail.

'Neath the dome of heaven's wonder
Proud she lifts her head,
Mingled with the clouds of glory
Flushed with victory's red.

See, she holds the lamp of knowledge.
Shining through the mist,
Lighted by the torch of learning
That each age has kissed!

Magic halls of classic learning,
With their polished lore
Gleam upon us in their wisdom,
Through their open door.

Loyal may thy sons and daughters,
Scattered o'er the world,
Bow in honored, reverent homage,
'Neath the flag unfurled!

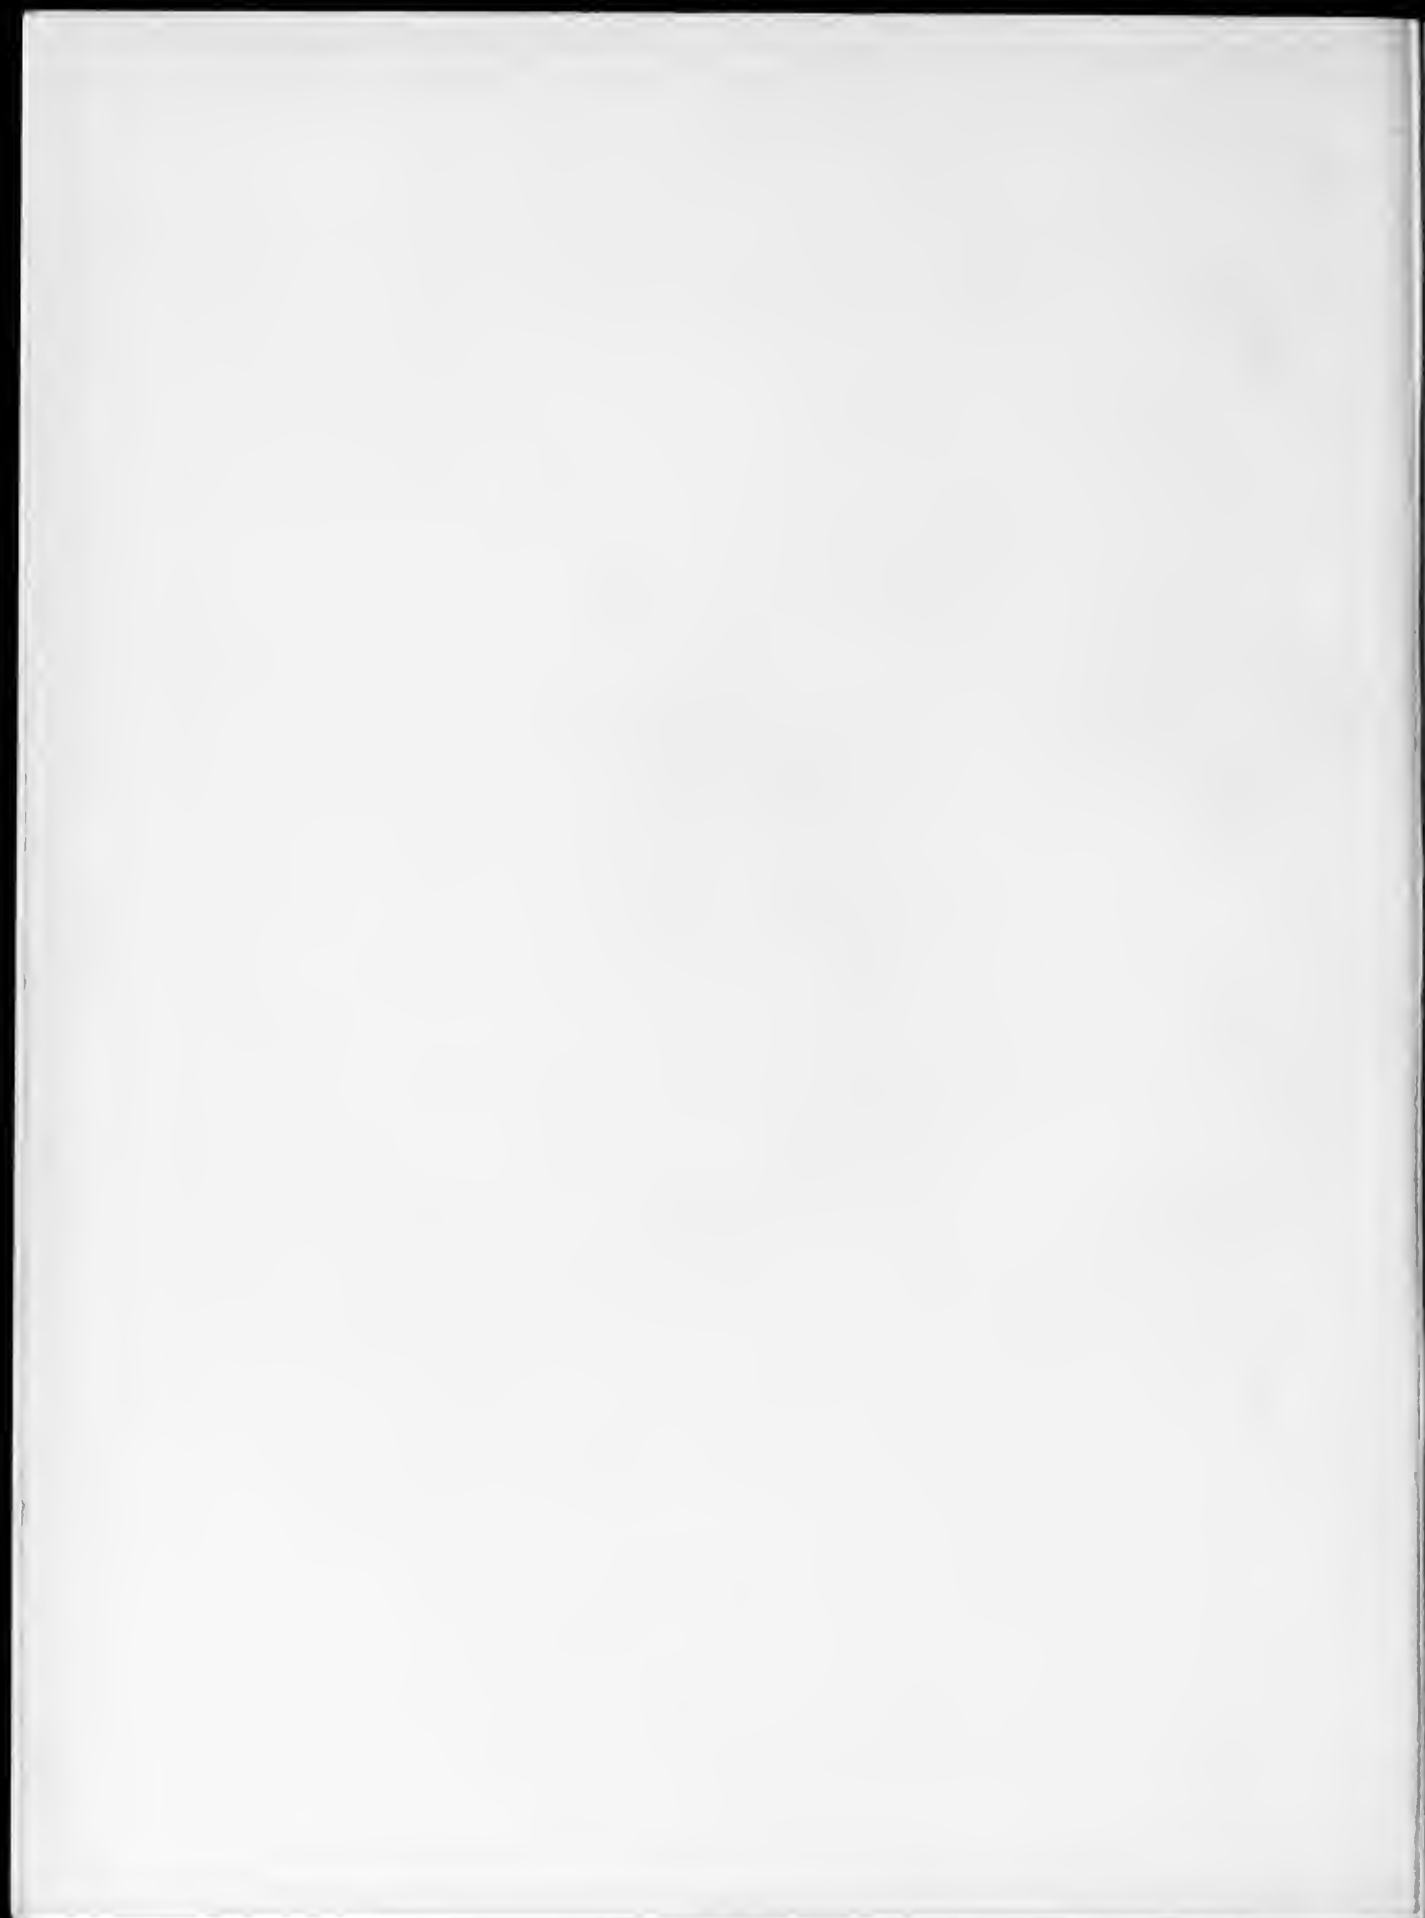

May thy realm of lofty triumph,
Queen of youthful hours,
Lift aloft through countless ages
Its fair beacon towers.

Sing, O sing, ye youths and maidens,
Let the anthem swell!
Crowned in majesty and honor,
Praise, all praise, Bucknell!

Senior Class History

THE advent of the Class of 1913 into the life of Bucknell was truly an epoch in the history of the College on the Hill. The faculty saw in the countenances of its members the look of determination and the mark of possibility which bring success. Not only was the faculty impressed with the class, however, for the Class of 1912 was given unmistakable signs of our strength when it went down to a humiliating defeat in the annual class scrap. Not content with this small trophy, we continued to display our valor by winning the football, basketball, and baseball games, and the track meet, from the 1912 aggregation.

When we came to our second milestone we had developed greater brain and muscle, but in numbers we had grown weaker. Although we lost the class scrap and the football game, our men went down to defeat like heroes, not giving up hope until all possibility of winning was gone.

In our third year we realized that the beginning of maturity was dawning upon us and that the time had come "to put away childish things." It was at this stage that, profiting by the instruction of Doctor Harris, we became more and more impressed with the value of wisdom.

But it was not until the fourth and last milestone had been reached that we were fully impressed with the true significance of Bucknell life. Now, as seniors, with but a few short months of student life before us, we have come to a full realization of the fact that, while sitting at the feet of those who impart knowledge, we have been truly edified. In a brief space we shall go out from the halls of old Bucknell, but no one can ever forget the four years which compose the epoch-making period of his life.

LEONARD A. RICHARDSON, Historian.

Senior Class Poem

HENE'ER we pause to contemplate the years
In which as classmates we have sought to gain
New visions of a larger destiny,
Ideas from life and books, from heart and brain.

Familiar scenes and faces of the past
Rise up to bless those years of springtide joy,
Enthroned in loyal hearts and Mem'ry's shrine
Defying Time's rude power to destroy.

Nor would we now forget those days of youth
As forward to the larger work we go;
Yon laurel waits for those whose earlier years
Lend color to the sunset's afterglow.

Our task is but begun; the Future's call Rings clear and strong, "Come, bring your gifts—
Nay, give yourselves, your all. The world is yours;
Fail not, but conquer, and mankind uplift."

L. EARL JACKSON, Class Poet.

Junior Class History

SINCE Theodore Roosevelt has taken Clio's place, the writing of history is a strenuous task at its best. But when it is a matter of recording the doings of an energetic mass like the class of '14, it might worthily call into play the powers of a Macaulay or a Caesar.

We came to Bucknell in the fall of 1910—a hardy horde of sturdy stripplings, gathered from the various places between the sunny plains of West Virginia and the virgin forests of Greater New York. Under the leadership of "Doc" Cook we met the sophomores in mortal combat and incidentally discovered the North Pole somewhere near the goal line at the gym. In the football clash we again pulled the long end of a 9-6 score. Right here the scribe would like to close his freshman annals, but truth forbids him to be as the usual historian is. He therefore sorrowfully states that we lost both the class games in basketball and in baseball. But despite such reverses we introduced two customs at the old college: we adopted the school colors as class colors and we burned our bi-colored caps on the last night of our freshman year.

In our sophomore year we dutifully upheld the dignity of the university and maternally nurtured the infant aspirations of 1915 in a way acceptable to seniors and juniors alike. Incidentally, we won the basketball championship and another football game.

This year we have put aside class struggles and turned our energies upon "Ethics" and "Strength of Materials." As juniors, we are still young, but we are confident of finishing the year in a manner that will properly fit us for next year's senior duties.

PERRY A. CARIS, Historian.

Junior Class Poem

DAWN opened wide her eyes.

From out the brightness of the eastern skies
She came, and touched the world with rosy hand,
And strewed unopened flowers o'er all the land.

Then wearied with her labors, with a smile
She sat her down apace and stayed awhile.
And lo, from far and near on every hand,
A crowd of youths and maids, a merry band,
Appeared, all free from care or sigh;
And day drew nigh.

Through portals golden bright
She came, her garments radiant with light.
She touched the world; the flowers opened wide.
She looked about her, and on every side,
The clouds which Dawn had left to hide the blue
With fairy whiteness, faded out from view.
Again the youths and maidens, older grown,
But merry still, although the time had flown,
Appeared and took their places just the same.
And evening came.

She came from heights sublime,
And rested on the mountain peaks a time.
She touched them o'er with purpled hues and shades,
Then made herself a path, far down the glades,
Where on each side the flowers, full grown now,
Bent as they touched her garments trailing slow.
Again the youths and maidens took their stand.
Evening has not yet passed, and o'er their land
She lingers yet, their Goddess for a time,
And reigns sublime.

DALE REESE ANGSTADT

LEWISBURG

Lewisburg High School; Varsity Baseball, 1; Class Baseball, 1, 2; Bucknell Band; General Science Course.

The old adage of "Jack of all trades but master of none" might be fittingly applied to this dark-eyed fellow. Dale devotes his time to a little barbering, a little baseball playing, a little "fusing," and a little studying. Dr. Martin's logic was where Dale was first catapulted into fame, for people often can be most amusing when about to enter into the happy lands of dreams. He finds his name causes inconvenience when the Profs are in the habit of calling upon a class in alphabetical order, for being first one up does not permit proper preparation for the ordeal.

RAYMOND LANCE APGAR

TRENTON, N. J.

Trenton High School; Electrical Engineering. "Ap."

'The buffet has a gay bill-of-fare,
With everything served full of hair."

Here, ladies and gentlemen, is the proprietor of the far-famed Bucknell Buffet (vulgarly called restaurant) where a variety of articles of food is handled, both delicatessen and otherwise, that baffles description. Notwithstanding his career as a proprietor, Apgar is a proficient student and an inveterate fusser. Early in his course he developed great religious zeal and earnestly sought (and found) the Kingdom of Heaven, (Himmelreich, to use the original German). Electricity is his hobby and we may expect to soon find the "Buffet" equipped with electric stoves and hot-dog roasters.

CHARLES JACOB APPLEGATE

CATASAUQUA

Bucknell Academy; Kappa Delta Phi; Theta Pi Pi; Chemical Engineering. "Snits."

"Where are you from?" interrogated our Registrar. "Catasauqua, Sir" was the modest reply. Such was "Snits'" introduction to the vicissitudes of Bucknell. As a Freshman he was a living exponent of the adage, "Discretion is the better part of valor." Daring as a lion during the day, at night he effectively eluded all sophomoreial pursuit by hermetical seclusion in his wardrobe. "Snits," however, is a chemical engineer with a bright future; in fact he has entirely revised the curriculum for his own benefit, and great things, both quantitative and qualitative, are expected of him.

EARL BUDD ARMSTRONG

PAULSBORO, N. J.

Paulsboro High School; Kappa Delta Phi; Class Baseball, 1, 2; Captain Class Baseball Team, 2; Class Basketball, 2; Assistant in Chemistry; Chemical Engineering. "Army."

Quiet and assuming of manner in ordinary affairs, "Army" takes an intense interest in athletics, so that he can give full particulars as to both plays and players in all the big games for a dog's age. Although he did not make the Varsity baseball team he has had the grit to stick right to it since his freshman year. Orpheus-like, "Army" hath power to calm the troubled breast with his lyre, which in this case takes the form of a piano. When it comes to a knowledge of chemistry he is right there with bells on. And now as assistant in the laboratory, he has become so acclimated thereto that he simply revels in that habitat of wild fumes.

NEVIN GEORGE BACHMAN

KEMPTON

Keystone State Normal; Demosthenean; Theta Alpha; Alternate, Varsity Debating Team, 3; Junior Debate; Secretary and Treasurer Woodrow Wilson Club; Banquet Toast, 1; Junior Prom Committee; Secretary Inter-Collegiate Debating Society; Latin Philosophical Course; Teaching, 'Bach.'

"Yes! yes! But, I'm in an awful hurry."

Did you ever hear those words come from the subterranean depths of the big-little Bachman? This calendar expert of the class is the man who made, not Milwaukee, but Millville famous, for that was the scene of his former splash. A worker? Well you've said it. Bach can carry books or studies and do credit to both. But cast a future glance, if you please, to the politician who can change your mind by holding your hand, and with the ladies he plays Hades. We are glad to state that when Bachman was traveling to the different universities he was not minded to desert us, but found his way to the place where he used his stentorian tones to call "96-78-92."

H. WALTER BAKER

LANCASTER

Millersville State Normal; Manager Class Football, 2; Class Banquet Committee, 2; Junior Smoker Committee; Vice-President Athletic Association; Assistant in Biology; Biological Course. 'Eake.'

This is not the Chocolate King, although in some sections he is doubtless the candy kid. "Bake" came to us from Millersville Normal and claims "Down Lancaster Way" as his residence. Biology, however, is his particular hobby, and he rides it full twenty-four hours per day, as his room-mate, "Max," who is kept awake at night by his incoherent jabberings about centrosomes and rheotropic reactions, will attest. "Bake" intends to teach natural science to the young idea in the years to come and with his thorough knowledge of the subject, his cheerful disposition and proclivity for making friends he will surely meet with success.

RALPH EMERSON BELL

MUNHALL

Munhall High School; Kappa Sigma; Theta Delta Tau; Class Basketball, 1, 2, 3; Captain Class Basketball, 2; Medical Society; Course in Biology. "Red."

"Red" first began mundane operations at Munhall—which, for the benefit of the ignorant, is located somewhere in the vicinity of Pittsburgh. After being exposed to knowledge in all of the local schools he drifted into our midst with a heart full of good intentions and the ambition to be a famous physician some day. While a youth he became inoculated with the spirit of Socialism and he is now, perhaps, the only disciple of Eugene Debs in our class. Two experiences stand out conspicuous in Ralph's career that most of us have not had, his extensive travels in Europe and a nocturnal hair-cut in his freshman year. To properly mingle study with pleasure is a feat that "Red" has mastered.

DANIEL FLOYD KLINE BERTOLETTE

MANATAWNEY

Oley High School; Jurisprudence Course; Law. "Bert."

"Bert" hails, according to his statement, "down from Reading up," although he checks his trunk from Manatawney, wherever that may be. Although at his first arrival he mingled his V's and W's in utter confusion and had great difficulty in adhering to the rules of English, he has successfully mastered them now. He is noted for his eloquence in Pennsylvania Dutch and for scattering his affections too promiscuously. Perhaps he is fearful of the opposite results so vividly evident in his roommate. He believes in the adage "variety is the spice of life" if one may accept the coloring of his socks as a criterion. "Bert," however, is a plugger and will certainly let himself be heard of in the future.

CHENEY KIMBER BOYER

HOMESTEAD

Bucknell Academy; Alpha Sigma; Banquet Toast, 2; Junior "Ex"; Greek Philosophical Course; Ministry. "Kim."

"Kim" hails from the land where they make iron and steel for a living, where grafters are numerous and where statesmen are rare. But he brings with him neither allegiance to bosses nor tempting pensions for ex-presidents. Indeed we can depose that he is attached to nothing but his work. He says little but thinks much. The main points of his creed are: regular attendance at classes, honesty in examinations, and a profound belief in the principles of "Sweetness and Light." On the other hand things that do not openly appeal to him are: the library as a "fourth subject," tho he has fallen in love secretly; early morning searches for freshman "procs" and midnight uproars of paddle-proud sophomores. All in all "Kim" is a typical student.

LOUIS HENRY BOYER

CRESSONA

Pottsville High School; Lehigh University; Phi Kappa Psi; Class Baseball, 2; Civil Engineering Course. "Shorty."

"Shorty," the little man with the big capacity, after a misplaced year at Lehigh, came to us in our Sophomore year. His most difficult task in college is to uphold his reputation as a baseball player, which he gained by hitting one foul ball in the Sophomore-Freshman game last spring. As a chicken fancier "Shorty" has few equals and no superiors. Six years of close study has made him an expert in that line. "Shorty" is planning to be a civil engineer, but we fear that he will need a step-ladder or a special transit before he can succeed in this profession.

GUY CLEVELAND BROSIOUS

RAUCHTOWN

Susquehanna University; Alpha Sigma; Winner Sophomore Oratorical Contest (1910); Latin Philosophical Course.

The class of '12 lost and the class of '14 gained when "Bisky," the gentleman from the rocky ramparts of Rauchtown, elected to finish his collegiate training with us. "Bisky" has profited much during his absence of two years. Part of the time he taught the ruddy faced mountaineer youngsters their three "Rs." Further, he has become an authority on chicken raising. Indeed, he has even gone so far as to translate into English the language of these busy fowls. His work on this subject, "The Language and Literature of the Chickus Barnyardae," is now in the press.

This book will undoubtedly startle the scientific world and will probably bring fame and fortune to this hardworking, observant student.

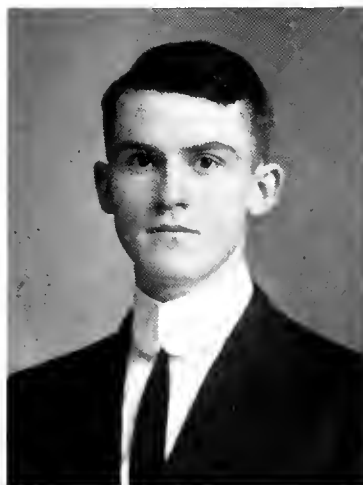

HARRY EARLE CAMPBELL

SHUNK

Bucknell Academy; Delta Theta Upsilon; Varsity Baseball, 1, 2; Class Baseball, 1; Class Football, 1; Chemical Society; Chemical Engineering Course.

Here's a real college man—jovial but earnest, athletic but studious, confident but modest. He can play football. That fact was proved in the fall of '10. He can play baseball. His reward for that ability was a "B" granted him while still a freshman. With such an apparently promising record as a snit student we are agreeably disappointed to see him tackle and master subjects that require work—German, Qualitative, Analysis, Physics, etc. In addition he goes to class regularly and promptly without expecting to receive an "A" with a halo around it for his punctuality. Here's to you, Harry, with the wish that Bucknell had more like you!

PERRY AQUILA CARIS

TYLERSVILLE

Lycoming County Normal School; Alpha Sigma; L'Agenda Board; Class Baseball, 1; Manager Class Basketball, 2; Toast Class Banquet, 2; Class Historian, 3; Junior Prom Committee; Junior "Ex"; Deutscher Verein; Latin Philosophical Course.

Here is "Old Wiz" Perry, the most intellectual phenomenon in the college. Perry is firm in his statements that Sugar Valley and not Tylersville is his real home, but it makes little difference, since he has brought a hat full of brains along with him. He is a great economizer of time, although he has never taken "Ephy's" Economics. While he has given us the honor of having him as a classmate he has decided not to wait for us poor plodders, and will receive his diploma this June. He has chosen teaching as a profession and we wish him success, knowing that it will be his, in the days to come.

CLARENCE BARNABUS CARVER

CARMEL, N. Y.

Carmel High School; Kappa Delta Phi; Class Track, 1; Class Baseball, 1; Class Treasurer, 3; Civil Engineering Course. "Nick."

And there came unto Bucknell a certain youth, Clarence Barnabus by name. And certain other youths, which had been residing there aforetime, gave unto him a diabolical name; and lo, from that time forth and even for ever more he was known among mortals upon earth as "Nick." And as to his relation to the girl question, we would have told it unto you, were he not as changeable as is the weather. And he had a great talent for work and all manner of labor, to such a degree that he was wont to take unto himself four engineering subjects every term, and to win the approbation of his professors.

CHARLES ELSWORTH COLEMAN

BOONTON, N. J.

Boonton High School; Class Football, 1; Mechanical Engineering.

Here is another from that mosquito-laden district of Jersey. Boonton, N. J. is the exact place and we join with "Chuck" in assuring you that it really exists, even though you never did hear of it. At home they give this scion the credit for maintaining the local postoffice, for were it not for the wholesale quantity of letters that go to and come from him while with us in college, business would be poor indeed. Just watch him haunt the Lewisburg postoffice these spring evenings! Besides being a famous long-distance walker, having walked to State College in his freshman year to see the football game, he is a good student and as good natured as he looks.

JAMES RUSSELL COOK

TRENTON, N. J.

Trenton High School; Phi Kappa Psi; Class Football, 1; Class Banquet Committee, 2; "A" in Ethics, 3; Jurisprudence Course. "Doc."

"Doc" is a member of the same tribe as the "Doc" Cook that didn't discover the North Pole. Explorations seem to run in the family, for this individual explored the "Sem" and there discovered the ideal of his dreams. She has left school now, which accounts for "Doc" taking occasional trips to the western part of the state. In this youth blazes the fire and flame of drama, and it burst forth before our wondering eyes in "She Would Be a Widow." We predict for him ephemeral success when he seeks to expound the law to the inhabitants of his native city.

OLIVE MANSFIELD COOPER

CORTLAND, N. Y.

Cortland High School; Frill and Frown; Latin Philosophical Course.

A sound of laughter and merriment is heard; the cause at first glance seems to be some one waving their arms in air, but at second glance is seen to be our Olive. Yes, sober, solemn, quiet, dignified Olive. Is it any wonder that the possessor of so many traits has won renown in dramatics? Although she is always to be depended upon in the class-room, Olive believes there is a time for all things, so soars from earth into the sublime realm of poetry, at which time the best of verses come from the pen of her whom "none know but to love."

DAYTON THOMAS CORSON

PAULSBORO, N. J.

Paulsboro High School; Kappa Delta Phi; Class Football, 1; Civil Engineering Course. "Paddy."

"Paddy's" cognomen originated in the fortunate possession of those humorous and pugnacious traits of character that unmistakably denote a long line of Hibernian ancestry. Like a true New Jersey sportsman he has never been known to fail in conforming his veracity by betting a dollar. "Paddy" is pursuing the civil engineering course, and is no mean student in any branch of study, but in Strength of Materials—particularly language—Prof. Drum says he is the star of the class. Of late he has been in a dilemma as to whether he should confine his athletic abilities to boxing or wrestling, but since a recent encounter which nearly resulted in a draw, he says boxing is his forte.

SAMUEL HENRY COULTER

OMAGH, COUNTY TYRONE, IRELAND

Conway Hall; Taylor Preparatory School; Kappa Delta Phi; Theta Alpha; L'Agenda Board; Glee Club, 2; Athletic Advisory Board; Junior "Ex"; Classical Course; Ministry. "Sam."

Here is our lone representative from Emerald Isle. Realizing the opportunities open to a minister in America "Sam" emigrated to this country and took up his preparatory work at Dickinson "prep." It was during his senior year there that he once read in the paper of the Logic course at Bucknell. This was just the thing he was looking for, so he finished his course there and came to Bucknell. Although he finds quite a big part of his schedule in study in his room he cannot altogether be charged with being a "grind." He takes everything in such an easy going and serious way that we are almost compelled to believe his thoughts celestial.

ROBERT JOHN CRANE

KATONAH, N. Y.

Brewster H. S.; Eastman's Business College; New York University; Kappa Delta Phi; Class Baseball, 2; Civil Engineering Course. "Heimer," "Bob."

Hunter, trapper, engineer, dog-fancier and tennis-fiend, "Bob" came to B. U. as a sophomore, and the thud, thud of his mighty feet was heard long before he made his appearance. Although the wilds of Canada have lured him twice, he still prefers old New York, especially Brooklyn. At the word "Engineer" Bob becomes spell-bound, and great visions of future accomplishments and success rise before him. Judging from present attainments those visions will undoubtedly be realized.

JOHN RUSSELL CRISWELL

SHARPSBURG

Sharpsburg High School; Bucknell Academy; Kappa Sigma; Theta Delta Tau; Phi Delta Sigma; Class Football, 1, 2; Captain Class Football, 1; Class Basketball, 1, 2; Class Banquet Committee, 1; Toast Class Banquet, 1; Sophomore Cotillion Committee; Electrical Engineering Society; Electrical Engineering Course. "Crissy."

Diminutive in stature but colossal in good-fellowship, that is "Crissy." John is always a more than welcomed member of any gathering for he invariably carries with him an unextirpable smile and a pocket-full of jokes on his friends. On many occasions his "Strength" has been sacrificed in order that one of the many college enterprises with which he is affiliated might receive his entire attention and be made a success. "Max" is reputed to be the only man in school possessing a fancy vest. His Seminary conquests have been many, far too numerous to mention, but he would rather "Leve-good" enough alone than give up "Hope" entirely. John is chief adviser to the Freshmen and "to be a big boy like Crissy" is their chief ambition.

RACHEL MIRIAM DAVIS

WOODSTOWN, N. J.

Woodstown High School; Frill and Frown; Mandolin and Guitar Club; Assistant Manager of L'Agenda; Y. W. C. A. President; Latin Philosophical Course.

Rachel is one of the girls we couldn't do without. As president of the Y. W. C. A., or leading lady in dramatics, she is equally capable and is always appreciated in either role. Her witty remarks and funny little giggle insure her a warm reception at every fudge party, for Rachel is one of those all-round girls that every college is proud to own. Of late the play "The Man from Home" has had such an attraction for her that we are beginning to fear that there is more in the little Jersey town from which she comes than its far-famed mosquitoes.

HARRY DEWIRE

WINFIELD

Bloomsburg Normal School; Varsity Baseball, 1; Class Baseball, 1; Sophomore Oratorical Contest; General Science Course; Teaching.

Little do we know of Harry's private life, due to the fact that he resides in Winfield and goes to and fro every day. After completing his course at Bloomsburg Normal he decided to take up the work of the "deestricht skule," but his insatiable craving to partake more freely of the Tree of Knowledge made it necessary to fling aside the beech wand and come to Bucknell. Harry is a good all-around fellow, for he is an athlete as well as a student.

HAROLD MACILVAINE DORRELL

ALLOWAY, N. J.

Alloway High School; Salem High School; Theta Alpha; Class Track, 1; Glee Club; Greek Philosophical Course; Ministry. "Willie."

When this youth arrived at Bucknell one eventful morn in 1910, innocence and virtue evanesced in centrifugal pulsating rays from the ultra-microscopical striations of his verdant sensorium. But alas! Our weeping quill shrinkingly records that within one week this tender stripling was making hideous the nocturnal serene with such obscure verse as "papa's pants will soon fit Willie." Ted Mercer's campaign, however, effected a great change in "Willie," for after converting the semi-barbarous Keen and Powell he began preaching to the heathen around Williamsport. Indeed contemporaneous prophets predict a successful career for this embryonic Moody from the prehistoric precincts of Alloway.

CHARLES BRYANT DRAKE

OLD FORGE

West Pittston High School; Varsity Track, 1, 2; Class Track, 1, 2; Civil Engineering Course. "Sir Francis."

"Quack! Quack! Quack!" that's Drake for you. He is an experienced engineer, as far as he goes, having burrowed mines, passed Lindy's "Strength," and indulged in Psychology as a monotony breaker. We cannot pass without comment upon his hearty nature and perpetual smile. If you want to get his number, it is "637" according to his recitations in Physics. He was originally a 1912 man, but, craving a worldly experience, he dropped out until he might become a member of 1914. No doubt we will hear of "Sir Francis" in the future.

RUTH HORTENSE EDWARDS

WILLIAMSPORT

Williamsport High School; Pi Beta Phi; C. E. A.; Class Poetess, 3; Mandolin and Guitar Club; Classical Course.

Gentle, sweet, loving, every trait betraying her purely artistic temperament—this is Ruth. She delights and excels in dreams, embroidery, art, music, and dances, and it is one of her greatest trials that she has to come down to earth and such practical subjects as School Management and Ethics. Her artistic taste crops out even in classes, for between her answers she is continually sketching heads and planning her next season's wardrobe. We predict a happy future for Ruth, for, with the sunshine philosophy of Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch, she never worries, but lets the future take care of itself.

HELEN HORTENSE EEDE

BALLSTON SPA, N. Y.

Ballston Spa High School; Delta Delta Delta; C. E. A.; Frill and Frown; Glee Club; Class Historian, 2; Class Secretary, 3; Latin Philosophical Course.

Unrestricted by college rules, Helen, tall and stately, made many friends both in the Sem and on the Hill during her Freshman days. As a result, in her Sophomore year she included in her daily duties a library course which has greatly helped to fashion her destiny. Helen never missed a dance in Freshman days, but now that she has become a Junior she seems to have put away Freshman pleasures and doesn't even approve of such infant indulgences. But in spite of all, she declares that she would give up her name for a "Waltz."

MINNIE IOLA ETZWEILER

LEWISTOWN

Millersville Normal; L'Agenda Board; Deutscher Verein; Junior "Ex"; Latin Philosophical Course. "Minerva."

Such wisdom as Minnie possesses justly deserves recognition, hence the name of the ancient goddess Minerva is aptly applied. Minnie never shirks a duty, but performs each act faultlessly, which makes her much sought when something is to be done. Now it might be supposed that "Minerva" is a serious person always, but that is where you are mistaken, for when there is some frolic on the elevation our studious "Minerva," who believes that there is a time to work and a time to play, is always on hand.

ROBERT WILLIAM EVERALL

SHARON

Sharon High School; Delta Theta Upsilon; Class Basketball, 1, 2, 3; Captain Class Basketball, 3; Junior Smoker Committee; Electrical Engineering Society; Electrical Engineering Course. "Bob."

"Bob" is an Englishman hailing from Sharon, and he doesn't care who knows it. He became famous in his Freshman year because of the resounding screech-whistle laugh he brought from home, but this is gradually disappearing as "Bob" masters the fine points of his intended profession. During leisure moments he delights to recite stormy experiences of his Freshman days. "Bob" is a good student and an A-1 fellow, but it is rumored that there are those among the fair ones who fall for his big dark eyes. In general he is considerate to all, but in particular, although always a loyal member of 1914, he has been heard to say that there are real "Good" qualities in the class of 1915.

WILLIAM HENRY EYSTER

FISHER'S FERRY

Bucknell Academy; Phi Gamma Delta; Assistant Manager L'Agenda; Class Treasurer, 1; Class Banquet Committee, 1; Chemical Society; Classical Course. "Bill."

"Shiver me Timbers" and "Aye, Aye, Sir," were "Bill's" favorite expressions when he first came to Bucknell in quest of the Tree of Knowledge. You would hardly guess that this pleasant and unassuming youth had once served "time" in Uncle Sam's navy. But such is the case, for "Bill" held a high position (on the top of a mast) on one of the battleships that "Bob" Evans commanded on his memorable trip around the world. "Bill" is a scholar of the first water as well as an admirer of the women in no small degree. In order to cultivate the latter tendency, as well as to utilize his spare time, he has a desk in the Registrar's office, where he assists the fair ones to arrange their courses.

ELLEN WOLFE FOCHT

LEWISBURG

Bucknell Institute; Pi Phi; Latin Philosophical Course.

"Isn't it perfectly lovely" or "Isn't it exquisitely beautiful" are some of the remarks heard from Ellen, who joined our illustrious class in her Sophomore year. Since Lewisburg is her native town, Ellen thought it would be much nicer to go away to college, so she tried the attractions of Wilson, only to return to Bucknell, which, she said, contained "Moore" of an attraction than did Wilson.

She is quite noted as an authoress, her latest publication being "The Thrilling Pursuit of Winnie Dean."

JASPER C. FRANTZ

FRIENDSVILLE, MD.

Mount Pleasant Institute; Demosthenean; Class Football, 1, 2; Class Baseball, 1; Winner Freshman Declamation Contest; Classical Course; Ministry.

Here comes the sphinx of the class. He came quietly and unobserved, and above all, Ruthlessly. Frantz was the large mark for some Sophomore paddles in his Freshman year. Perhaps it was this treatment that caused him to come back with so much fire in the Freshman-Sophomore football game. Jasper has the ability of a speaker and now that the Ruth awakening has struck him we may prophesy a bright future for the man from Maryland.

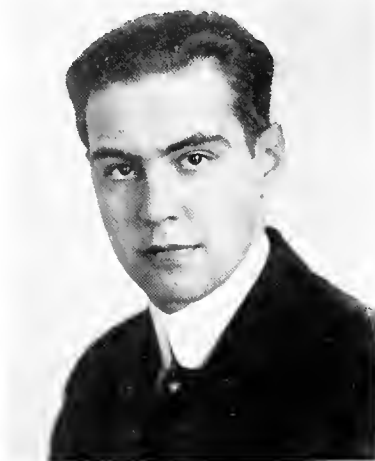

GUY LESTER FULLMER

MONTOURSVILLE

Montoursville High School; Demosthenean; Class Baseball, 1; Class Banquet Committee, 2; Sophomore Cotillion Committee; Chemical Society; Chemical Engineering Course. "Posey."

Behold, sorrowing friends, the only creature of his kind in existence, the man who has succeeded in overturning the natural laws governing sleep, the man who, with a bewitching smile, puts to practical use the law of attraction when a Semite is near, and finally, the man who made famous the word 'Hello'—Guy Lester, alias "Posey" Fullmer. Known in Montoursville nineteen years ago as "the cutest little thing," his name and fame have developed and expanded to such a great extent that the aforesaid title is given him today not only in the hamlet honored as his home, but throughout the length and breadth of the Keystone state.

JOHN LUKE GEHMAN

MARTINDALE

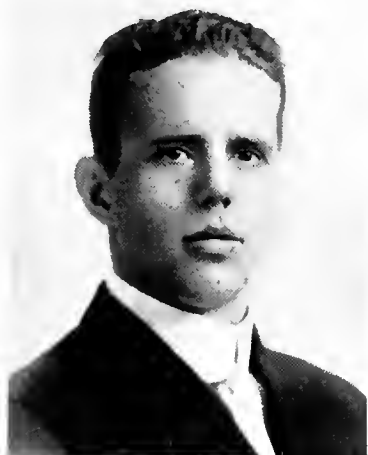

Terrill Hill High School; Forum; L'Agenda Board; Orange and Blue Board; Varsity Debating Team, 3; Glee Club; Minstrels; Class Banquet Toast, 1; Classical Course; Ministry.

The advent of John Luke among us was provocative of the remark that, "Full many a gem of purest ray serene, the dark unfathomed caves of Martindale bear." Ruddy of countenance and unsophisticated in manner he reminds us forcibly of the Shepherd psalmist. In Bromley's oratory John's sonorous bass voice reverberated so passionately that we fancied ourselves in close proximity to Dante's Inferno. But diligent application to the liberal arts, together with the cultural influences of several young ladies bid fair to send forth into the ministerial world a student worthy of our Alma Mater.

EARL BALLARD GLOVER

ERIE
Erie High School; Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Theta Delta Tau; Phi Delta Sigma; Varsity Track, 1; Class Track, 1, 2; Assistant Manager Varsity Tennis; Class Banquet Committee, 1; Toast Class Banquet, 2; Sophomore Cotillion Committee; Junior Smoker Committee; Electrical Engineering Society; Electrical Engineering Course. "Bally."

"Bally" was first catapulted into local fame when in his Freshman year, he forgot to run when the gun was fired at the track meet with State. This incident did not affect his track aspirations and he is now the fastest man at Bucknell (on his feet, of course). Besides having won a "B" that he never got in Bromley's track meet last year Earl has a number of other distinctions, among them being his feat of having fussed on every night but two from Thanksgiving to Easter. To wear a necktie during the daytime is contrary to his creed and habits. He spends his spare time in studying and we hope that he meets with as great success as an engineer as he now experiences in his races and love affairs.

JOSHUA ROBERT GOLIGHTLY

WILKESBARRE

Dorranceton High School; Kappa Sigma; Theta Delta Tau; L'Agenda Board; Class Football, 2; Class Banquet Committee, 2; Junior Prom Committee; Secretary Athletic Association; Civil Engineering Course. "Joe."

"Josie" and his brown vest, with the pockets filled with little memorandum books, came to us from out of the barren wastes of the hard-coal regions. The first term of our Freshman year probably was a little too hard for him for he went home to spend the winter with "the folks," but was with us again in the Spring term. "Joe" never tires of telling the Freshmen of his athletic conquests before coming to Bucknell, but he now takes his exercise in wrestling with Surveying and in doing mental gymnastics in "Strength." A daily diary and a well-cropped beard are his particular hobbies and in them he takes much pride. He is a hard and conscientious worker, with the ability to make and keep friends and we predict fame and fortune for him in the engineering world.

ALBERT DONALD GRAY

ALTOONA

Altoona High School; Phi Gamma Delta; Class Banquet Toast, 1; Medical Society; Biological Course.

Yes, Don is just as good looking as his picture indicates. You say you think he looks like quite a little fusser? That term could not be applied to him except during certain seasons of the year, such as early fall or late spring, and then the word is altogether too mild to be used in connection with Don. He is studying to be a forester and tells us that he is going to Yale after he finishes up here in 1914.

However, we would not be at all surprised to hear of him changing his mind and taking up the hardware business as his vocation.

GEORGE THOMAS GROVE

HUMMELSTOWN

Harrisburg High School; Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Manager Orange and Blue, 3; Manager Commencement News, 2; Manager Class Track Team, 1; Freshman Banquet Committee; Toast Freshman Banquet; Civil Engineering Course.

The lights of Hummelstown do not burn as brightly as of yore since this satellite left that village two years ago to cast his lot with the Class of 1914. His decision to come to Bucknell was a wise one, for without him to run the business end of the college papers there might not be any such periodicals. George is very fond of walking, but since the installation of electric car service between Lewisburg and Montandon he finds riding a much more convenient manner of covering ground. The old adage that "Still water flows deep" is applicable to George, for beneath his usually quiet and unassuming appearance lies a personality that all of us have cause to envy. The only rest that his old pipe and his books get is when he sleeps.

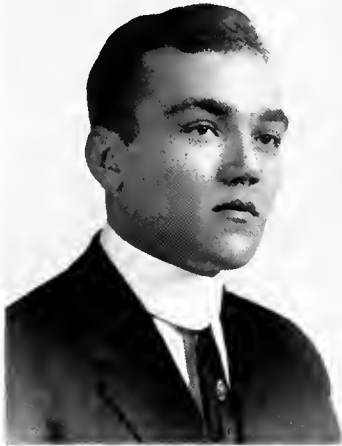

ROBERT CLARK HAGAN

UNIONTOWN

Uniontown High School; Phi Kappa Psi; Varsity Baseball, 1, 2; Class Football, 1, 2; Class Track, 1, 2; Law Club; Jurisprudence Course. "Bob."

"Looking mighty fine out there today, Robert." When, in the spring term of our Freshman year, "Tim" would utter these words, it was almost certain that the next batter wouldn't see the ball. Although "Bob" has occupied the mound since his arrival he accomplished his greatest feat when his pitching defeated the Army last year by the score of 7-1. In addition to his Varsity work he has always upheld the class in all branches of athletics. However, it must not be supposed that "Bob" is merely an athlete, for we are glad to state that few are his superiors when it comes to work in the class-room.

FRANK RUSSELL HAMBLIN

Bucknell Academy; Demosthenean; Freshman Prize in Latin and Mathematics; Freshman Declamation Contest; Sophomore Oratorical Contest; Junior Debate; Junior "Ex"; Classical Course. "Pety."

Russell will make any member of any class sit up and take notice of his ability to read Latin and Greek. His latest achievement is to whistle in Greek. Such tame pursuits as painting the bridge and getting up during class to do a hoplite dance fade into obscurity when we recall the day when in Civics Russell flunked. To say that half the class expired would be putting it mildly. Even the best of students make those errors, and so Russell must be forgiven for such a slight mistake that might in any way detract from his brilliant class record.

EUDORA REGINA HAMLER

LEWISBURG

Bucknell Institute; Bucknell School of Music; King's School of Oratory; Assistant Teacher in Elocution at Bucknell Institute; Frill and Frown; Glee Club; General Science Course. "Dora" or "Dode."

Dora, calm, cool, self-possessed, is one of the few girls who can recite in Ethics without being "fussed to death." She has already mounted high upon the ladder of fame, as witness the many honors conferred upon her, and a glorious future awaits her. But Dora's abilities do not lie only in the line of elocution; like all talented people, her interests are world-wide, and lately she has become very much interested in the making of fine

Irish linen; her friends predict that, besides being a great elocutionist, Dora may also become a Weaver.

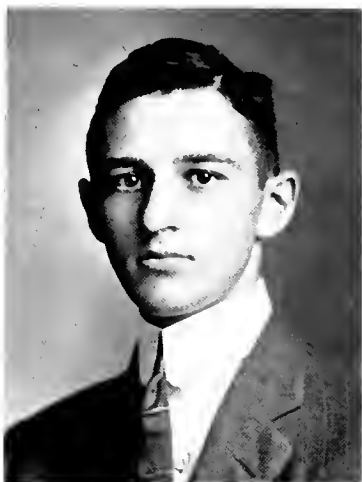

MARIAN KATHRYN HARMAN

MONTOURSVILLE

Montoursville High School; Delta Delta Delta; L'Agenda Board; Class Historian, 1; Class Secretary, 2; Mandolin and Guitar Club; Frill and Frown; Latin Philosophical Course.

Allow us to introduce to you Marian Kathryn, whose distinguishing characteristics are laughing eyes, a winning smile, and a merry giggle. Her leisure hours are spent in reading the poems of Burns, and she especially likes the one entitled "My Love Is Like a Red, Red Rose." Ever since taking English Lit. in her Sophomore year, she has frequented the library looking up references, and her sudden fondness for alliteration, even in names, we feel sure is to be traced to this, her unsuspected love of literature.

WALTER WILLIAM HARRIS

LEWISBURG

Bucknell Academy; Phi Gamma Delta; Phi Delta Sigma; Euepia; Varsity Tennis, 1, 2, 3; Captain Varsity Tennis, 3; Captain Class Tennis, 1, 3; Chairman Banquet Committee, 1; Junior Smoker Committee; Law Club; Classical Course. 'Walt.'

Walter carries upon his shoulders a great responsibility; he is expected to measure up to the standard of a long line of eminent predecessors. But Walter does not allow such a small matter to detract in any way from the mild serenity of his placid countenance; Walter and cheerfulness are always on good terms. Besides being a jolly companion, he is an all-around excellent scholar and an invincible tennis player.

JOSEPH MUR HILLMAN

SHAMOKIN

Coal Township High School; Electrical Engineering. 'Kid.'

When this product of the hard-coal regions arrived in town three years ago, abbreviated in stature and unlearned in the ways of the world, it was thought by those who witnessed his arrival that the first form of the "prep" would be augmented by this youthful seeker of wisdom. We were much surprised when he appeared wearing a little green-buttoned cap like unto the ones that adorned our pates, and we learned later that his diminutive body supported a head that contained more gray matter per c.c. than many of us could boast of. "Kid" is a persistent and hard worker and to hear of his success in the years to come will not surprise us in the least.

MIRIAM RUTH HOFFA

LEWISBURG

Bucknell Institute; Latin Philosophical Course. 'Ruthie.'

According to outward appearances, Ruth is a quiet, sober, undemonstrative little lady; but sometimes a merry twinkle in her eyes betrays a spirit of mischief lurking somewhere. Upon inquiry, her friends, the victims of many a practical joke, thoroughly confirmed this suspicion: underneath Ruthie's Quaker-like exterior, fun and mischief and mirth have taken up their abode and sometimes hold high carnival. We do not doubt in the least that Ruth loves her Northern home, but sometimes we think her heart longs for a warmer climate, and her future years, we feel quite sure will be spent in the sunny land of "Frantz."

JAMES RALPH IRWIN

SCHUYLER

Turbotville High School; Susquehanna University Academy; Alpha Sigma; Assistant in Shopwork; Electrical Engineering.

"Ralph," the erstwhile village schoolmaster with the grave, preoccupied look, came to us from the stormy wilds near Turbotville. In his Sophomore year, his "Wise" roommate led Ralph far astray into the dim and mystic paths of "fussing." His present roommate also is in-Cline-d, strongly in-Cline-d, to lead Ralph further astray, but he has reformed (?) and refuses to depart from the paths of rectitude. He now devotes himself to the more serious problems: sleeping, Simp's Physics, and shop-work. In conclusion, if patience, perseverance and gentlemanly qualities win a place in the world, Ralph will certainly attain to a large place.

DOROTHEA MARGUERITE JONES

MINERSVILLE

Minersville High School; Freshman Declamation Contest; Latin Philosophical Course. "Dot."

Listen! Do you hear the delicious little giggle, bubbling forth like a hidden spring from among rocks and ferns? Here comes the author of it—laughing, jolly, happy, good-natured roly-poly "Dot." "Dot" is one of the happiest, gayest little maidens who ever "stacked" rooms, planned escapades, or enjoyed midnight feasts in Third Floor New. Her sense of humor is well developed, and she always manages to see the funny side of any situation, however solemn and serious. Strange to say, this light-hearted maiden is very fond of study—English History—and she will spend long hours in conning the events and dates of those stern old English kings, especially the Edwards.

GEORGE THOMPSON KEECH

NETCONG, N. J.

Dover High School; Forum; Class Treasurer, 2; Assistant Manager Varsity Football, 2; Mechanical Engineering Society; Mechanical Engineering Course.

Keech is not, as one unacquainted with him might infer from his cognomen, interested in the piscatorial science, although he did have a great fondness for the water one night during his Sophomore year. On first meeting Keech one would think the fairer sex had no attractions for him, but a single visit to his room and a glance at its decoration is sufficient to convince anyone to the contrary. Besides being a good fellow Keech is by no means a student of mean ability, and is bound to become an engineer of some note after leaving Bucknell.

MILDRED RUTH KIRK

CHRISTIANSBURG, VA.

Bellefonte High School; Glee Club; Latin Philosophical Course. "The Virginian."

"Well, lawsy massy, ef heah don' come dat li'l Miss Millie fum 'way down in Ole Virginny. How is yo' all, honey? We sho be glad to see you."

Yes, indeed, we surely are glad to welcome Mildred to old B. U. At first she was undecided as to the relative merits of Swarthmore and Bucknell, but we are glad to say she finally decided for the best, and came to cheer for the Orange and Blue. She has a warm spot in her heart, however, for State; can you guess why? Just notice the beautiful diamond sparkling on the third finger of her left hand. Mildred has many friends of both sexes, "aber der Morgen (Morgan) ihres Tages wird immer derselbe."

WILMA HARRIETTE SPEERS KNAPP

HAWLEY

Hawley High School; Sophomore Oratorical Contest; Glee Club; General Science Course. "Bill" or "Knappie."

Wilma, like the birds and flowers, came to us in the springtime of the year, and the beauties of Bucknell so captivated her that she decided to stay with us. Like the birds, Wilma can sing, too, and her favorite song is, "I love love." Wilma is very affectionate, we believe, especially to certain ones of her friends; but sometimes, just enough to add a little spice to life, Wilma loses her temper, and then we hear in mildly explosive tones, "Well, this sure makes me Cross."

MARY ANNA KUNKLE

LEWISBURG

Bucknell Institute; Latin Philosophical Course. "Kid."

Mary is one of the girls who is the envy of all the homesick infants at the "Sem." Why? Because her home is near town, and she can visit mother every night. Mary fully appreciates the freedom rules of a town girl, and, armed with a kodak, takes many a long country walk and drive. As trophies of these expeditions, she brings back snapshots galore—mostly of men. Nevertheless, her "fairy prince" has not yet appeared upon the scene, but when he does arrive, we feel sure he will find a "princess" who would grace any court.

RALPH WARREN KUNKLE

LEWISBURG

Bucknell Academy; General Science Course. "Kunk."

To be able to attend college and at the same time enjoy "home cooking" is a privilege few of us enjoy. Ralph does, however, and it is for that reason that but few of us know him with any degree of intimacy. His relations with the fair sex, as well as his personal life, are, we are very sorry to say, unknown to us, but from his drowsy appearance in Psychology on many mornings we surmise that he is not neglecting the social side of his education. A pleasant fellow to know, and an enthusiastic classmate, is Ralph.

HENRY GEORGE KUYL

PATERSON, N. J.

Paterson High School; Manager Class Baseball, 2; Civil Engineering Course. "John."

This member of our class, lean in figure and laconic in speech, hails from Paterson, the city of anarchists and mosquitoes. We will not publicly accuse him of belonging to either class; just ask him if you wish to know. "John," as he is known to us on the hill, is a sort of dignified and superior appearing sort of individual, but it is rumored that in the seclusion of his room he occasionally descends from his ultra-mundane apathy and laughs and jokes quite naturally. Studying is "John's" particular hobby, while his main aversion is fussing, his bashful disposition having thus far kept him immune against the charms of the fair Co-Eds.

LELAND PROBASCO LANING

BRIDGETON, N. J.

Bridgeton High School; Phi Kappa Psi; Class Track, 2; Mandolin Club, 2; Junior Prom Committee; Civil Engineering Course. "Cupe."

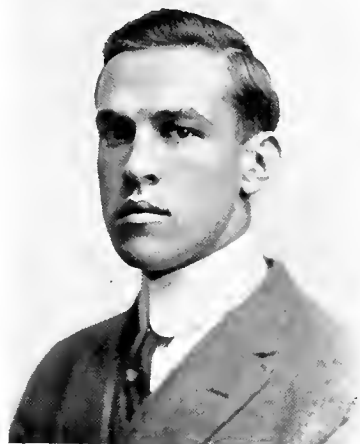

When Leland Probasco first landed in Lewisburg he was a very quiet and modest boy; but the times have changed. The only mark of recognition that anyone can find is his pink cheeks. It was a very hard matter at first to find a suitable name for him. But one day a young lady remarked, on first seeing him, "He is just a little Cupid." Thus his name was chosen and he has been known as "Cupe" ever since. "Cupe" is a rabid fusser, but in his fussing consistently follows out the principle that "Variety is the spice of life." He is also an athlete of great ability, and has won the privilege of wearing '14 upon his manly breast.

ERNEST OLOF LINDBERG

SAG HARBOR, NEW YORK

Pierson High School; Phi Gamma Delta; Theta Delta Tau; Phi Delta Sigma; President Athletic Association; Class Basketball, 1, 3; Class Banquet Toast, 2; Assistant Manager Varsity Track, 3; Vice President of Class, 3; Junior Prom Committee; Mechanical Engineering Course. "Puff."

"Puff," whose features are here portrayed, is one of the most popular members of the class, for his smiling countenance and genial good nature make him a general favorite. His one fault, however, is his love of notoriety, and he has been known to go so far as to have his room set on fire so as to create a little excitement. Although "Puff" is fully aware of the attractions of Lewisburg, he frequently wanders away to neighboring towns in order to get some diversion from his studies. According to all reports he is the "Beau Brummel" of his native city.

CHARLES WALTER LOTIE

PATERSON, N. J.

Allentown High School; Demosthenean; Theta Alpha; Editor-in-Chief L'Agenda; Orange and Blue Board; Varsity Debating Team, 3; Class Track, 1, 2; Class Baseball, 2; Glee Club, 2; Freshman Declamation Contest; Sophomore Oratorical Contest; Junior "Ex"; Classical Course. "Aby."

"Aby" received his early education in Allentown, but soon tiring of the famous peanut diet of that place, betook himself to Paterson, from whence he came to us in the fall of 1910. That he has met with success in his determination to get the most out of his college course is attested by the variety of activities in which he is a leading spirit, and by the fact that to him has been entrusted the task of editing enough copy to fill this book. Where he secured the nickname that he now responds to is a problem not only to us but, we think, to him as well. "Aby" is another of the unfortunates who won one of Bromley's imaginary "B's" in the Record Day track meet last spring, but that event has in no wise impaired the friendship we all have for him.

WALLACE CLINE LOWTHER

PUNXSUTAWNEY

Somerset High School; Tyrone High School; Phi Kappa Psi; Class Football, 1; Class Baseball, 2; Class Track, 2; Orange and Blue Board; Banquet Toast, 2; Sophomore Cotillion Committee; Minstrels, 2; Jurisprudence Course. 'Red.'

Ladies and gentlemen, kindly fix your optical organs for a few moments upon the brawny specimen before you, known throughout the vast regions of both hemispheres as the only original "Red" Lowther. As a college man, he takes part in all of the college activities: cheering, athletics, theatricals, fussing, and, once in a while, in studying. His famous slogan, "There goes your old ball game," can be heard on all parts of the field when he gets the frog out of his throat. Although he received an "A" in Anthropology, we believe that he could get a much higher mark than that if Bucknell offered such a course as "Womanthropology."

LEWIS FREDERICK LYNE, JR.

JERSEY CITY, N. J.

Jersey City High School; Stevens Preparatory School; Sigma Chi; Theta Delta Tau; Phi Delta Sigma; Class Football, 1; Class Baseball, 1; Captain Class Basketball, 2; Class Banquet Committee, 1, 2; Junior Smoker Committee; Cap and Dagger; Mechanical Engineering Course. 'Louie.'

That "Louie" "just naturally hates himself" is evidenced by his recent attempt to scatter enlarged photographs of himself broadcast among his friends. He is perhaps the only human being who ever ventured the statement that there are no holes in the ocean. Like all great men, Louie has a famous library, to which he owes much of his success, the books contained in it being, Catechism of Business, Scrap Book, Student's Manual, How to Become a Successful Engineer, Autograph Album, and Football Rules for 1908. He is quite a chauffeur, this tall, ever smiling youth, and frequently tries to humiliate his rival drivers of Doctor B's Overland by hiding the spark-plug. Louie is a hail fellow, well met, and a credit to his class.

GEORGE RUMMEL MADTES

PUNXSUTAWNEY

Punxsutawney High School; Monessen High School; Phi Kappa Psi; Class Football, 1; Banquet Toast, 1; Mandolin Club, 1, 2, 3; Manager Mandolin Club, 2; Glee Club, 2; Classical Course; Journalism. "Matty."

"Matty" surely has the Punxsutawney "Spirit," and would divide his last cent if it were to benefit a friend. He is happiest when doing something for some one else. "Matty" has always tried to take life easy, and we are compelled to admit that so far he has succeeded admirably. A classical student, he takes delight in reeling off by the hour long lists of Greek words, whose meaning no one but himself is aware of. The midnight mandolin concerts which "Matty" is continually arranging for at the Sem, have made him a general favorite at that popular institution.

ARTHUR SAWYER MAHONY

PASSAIC, N. J.

Passaic High School; Sigma Chi; Civil Engineering Course. "Mac."

He whose Bertillon picture is hereto appended is a big-hearted, care-free youth, who is known and liked by every student on the hill. In "Mac's" estimation there are but two things greater than Niagara—the Passaic High School and his "Pap." He is well versed on political and religious problems and claims that as far as he is concerned he is living in the last world. "Artie" is perhaps the only fellow in school who has seen angels in West College, and all attempts to explain away the apparition have been futile. His greatest ambition is to be a millionaire at forty so that he can call on his poverty-stricken classmates and tell them that it is no disgrace to be poor, but only a small inconvenience. Big and strong in body and mind, he is a man we are glad to know.

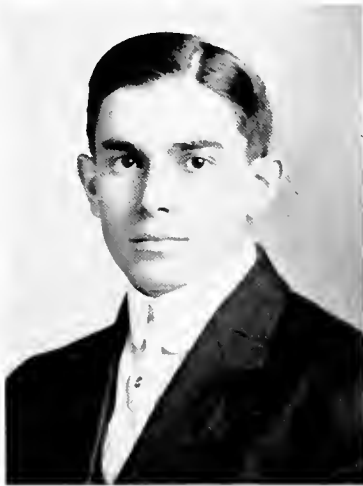

SAMUEL HARRISON MARKOWITZ

POTTSTOWN

Pottstown High School; Theta Alpha; Class Football, 1; Class Basketball, 1; Sophomore Oratorical Contest; Classical Course; Ministry. "Mark."

Every class must have every type and "Mark" has the distinguished honor of being in the boisterous type. Any one rooming directly above or beneath him has the rare privilege of enjoying his concerts, which are famous for their rich melodies. Only during his very frequent sojourns to Winfield is the collegiate body relieved of his pestiferous and blood-curdling racket. One good thing, however, that "Mark" did was to join the class of 1914 to make up the missing link.

Judging from his energetic and persevering ways "Mark" will certainly make his mark in life.

JOSIAH JACOB MARKLE

HANOVER

Millersville State Normal; Franklin and Marshall; Euepia; Law Club; Jurisprudence Course.

Caesar had his "Veni, vidi, vici," Descartes his "Cogito, ergo sum," and Markle truly profited by their example when he uttered his laconic "No gains around our ends." Scholastically, he is a jurisprudence student specializing in chemistry. Athletically and baptismally, he reminds us of the man who forgot to touch second base. These few remarks are not based on intimate observation, for Markle has joined our class only this year, but we predict that he will develop into a typical senior next year.

ROBERT RAY McCOMBS

MCCLELLANDTOWN

Bucknell Academy; Delta Theta Upsilon; Class Baseball, 2; Class Football, 2; Class Basketball, 1; Class Banquet Committee, 2; Law Club; Classical Course. "Bob."

"Bob" is an ambitious, embryonic lawyer, who has not yet recovered from the recent political landslide which left him with but few consolations, the greatest of them being the "Old Party" paper from home, over the editorials of which he pondered and feigned to find comfort. Joining us in our Sophomore year, after two years of pedagogical experience, "Bob" at once entered into the affairs of the class and the Seminary with a vivacity that gained our fullest approbation. While not questioning his chances for success in Jurisprudence, many of his friends believe that on account of his notorious "will power" and oratorical abilities he should have stuck to his first ambition, that of being a minister. His eloquence and coquetry will not go for naught, however, when women occupy the jury box.

FRANCES TERRY McNALL

MUNCY

Muncy High School; Pi Beta Phi; C. E. A.; Deutcher Verein; Latin Philosophical Course.

If there's one word in the English language capable of expressing in itself all the varied characteristics of this Junior it is the significant word "friend." Loyal, dependable, conscientious, always ready to help, Frances is indeed a true friend. Though ever in for a good time, especially after ten, she may also be depended upon in the class-room. One of her greatest accomplishments is her singing, and even if she does know only the first line she can make that fit in quite nicely throughout the song. College means more than mere book learning to Frances, and although she will carry away with her an enviable amount of the former, we feel sure that she will not count the many friends she has made during the four years here as naught.

RALPH HERMAN MOORE

SLIPPERY ROCK

Slippery Rock State Normal; Deutscher Verein; Classical Course.

Ever since Don Quixote said to Noah "Don't give up the ship," there have been Ralphs and Ralphs, but we beg to present herewith as exhibit A, the only original. The only adjective that can properly describe him is "Versatile." He can do anything from taking photos of pretty maidens to translating Kant out of the original German into the purest Latin of the Ciceronian period. The only thing that has floored him in the three years is Uncle Billy's Descriptive Chemistry, but he wrestled with that hip and thigh before he cried, "Hold Macduff." He usually carries four subjects exclusive of the Orpheum. With all that, he finds time to read Chambers and McCutcheon and the latest criticisms on fashions.

THOMAS EDWARD MOORE

LAS ANIMAS, COLO.

Las Animas High School; Sigma Chi; Theta Delta Tau; Phi Delta Sigma; Assistant Manager Varsity Baseball; Class Football, 2; Class Banquet Committee, 1; Class Banquet Toast, 1; Civil Engineering Course. "Wild Bill."

It was no ill wind that blew "Bill" into our midst almost three years ago from the wild and woolly west, where the typical landscape consists of a solitary cactus bush. This callow youth was at once surnamed "Wild Bill," due to his motor-man's hair-cut and the cow-punching paraphernalia which came with him. His chief delight is in telling blood-curdling stories to the freshmen, most of them being about "Famous Indians I have known," and of hunting rabbits in the alfalfa. It is now a common sight to see "Bill" strolling down University Avenue in his civilized clothes every Wednesday and Saturday night to see the town folks (Fochts). He aspires to be a civil engineer and the hopes and best wishes of the class are with him.

HOWARD BURTON MUSSER

SOUTH WILLIAMSPORT

South Williamsport High School; Kappa Delta Phi; Class Football, 1, 2; Class Banquet Committee, 2; Class Banquet Toast, 2; Assistant Manager Orange and Blue; Law Club; Jurisprudence Course. "Muss."

For a long time we were in doubt as to what course "Muss" was pursuing. Some thought it was "Nature studies in Modern Milton," under Doctor Perrine. Lately we got a hint of the truth when he said, "The judicial procedure in such cases demands a change of venue." Very true, Muss, you have frequently changed the venue of your affections within the past two years. But this must be expected of one possessing such big brown eyes. At the present time, however, the law has such an attraction for him, that if Blackstone were to visit the classroom he would be highly elated with so worthy a disciple.

RAYMOND FORD NICHOLLS

TAMAQUA

Tamaqua High School; Bucknell Academy; Delta Theta Upsilon; Manager Class Basketball, 1; Chairman Sophomore Cotillion Committee; Chairman Junior Prom Committee; Jurisprudence Course. "Rabbi."

"Rabbi, why comest thou hither?" was the question once asked of this brawny youth with the curly hair. Now the question with us is, "Rabbi, when goest thou thither?" Both are deep questions for the profound philosophical thinker. The child has been so much afflicted with Latin Balantynus since his advent at Bucknell that it looks as if it might be a permanent disease. Besides having an average of one hundred per cent in mingling with the ladies, "Rabbi" is now and then of a musical turn of mind; he has already confided to a few that he has a notion to quit college and enter the School of Music. Such a move, however, does not seem probable, for "Rabbi" is not of the character to waver from his initial ambitions.

HELEN GRIFFIN OTT

BRIDGETON, N. J.

Bridgeton High School; Pi Beta Phi; Frill and Frown; L'Agenda Board; Class Poetess; Deutscher Verein;
Latin Philosophical Course. "Tiny."

So here's to our "Tiny"
Who is now quite small.
And here's to our Helen
Who wants to grow tall.

"Tiny" has proved a great fact, namely, that in the world of beings as in the world of commerce, quantity does not always mean quality. Helen has experienced the pricking of thorns together with the pleasantness of the rose; for it hurts to be called a Semite or an under-classman when one has reached the lofty realm of the Junior, even if there is a possibility of escaping from some escapade without being seen. However Helen's quality furnishes a model of industry for the underclassmen.

LUCILE ELIZABETH OWENS

LEWISBURG

Denison University; Pi Beta Phi; Biological Course.

Lucile came to us in her Sophomore year, and because of her quiet and reserved nature has won many true friends. Her trips up the hill have been comparatively few, for the laboratory with its numerous "ologies" has occupied most of her time. Her fearlessness allows her to say:

"I ain't afeared of snakes, an' toads, an' bugs, an' worms, an' mice,
An' things most girls are skeered of I think are awful nice."

ROBERT JOHN PARMENTER

ELMIRA, N. Y.

Elmira Free Academy; Delta Theta Upsilon; Class Baseball, 1, 2; Class President, 3; Glee Club, 1, 2; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet; Electrical Engineering Society; Electrical Engineering Course. "Bob."

"Bob" is a synonym for activity, for in three years there has not been a phase of college life where his smiling "phiz" was not present to make things interesting. Having this broad field of experience, we are glad to call him our Junior "Prex." At prep, "Bob" was a noted athlete, but since coming to college the size of his corporation has increased so materially that he has decided it is too much of a task to keep down to training weight. However, his class history shows that he has not altogether lost the influence of his early athletic training. Engineering, electrical preferred, appeals to "Bob," but whether he will follow that profession or seek a reputation with Hammerstein remains to be seen.

HAROLD EVANS POWELL

SCRANTON

Keystone Academy; Bucknell Academy; Class Football, 1, 2; Captain Class Football, 2; Class Cotillion Committee, 2; Electrical Engineering Course; Electrical Engineering. "Roughy."

"Roughy" as the fellows insist on calling him, wears a mild and unassuming countenance that conceals from the world the fires of good fellowship and enthusiasm that burn within him. Early in his Sophomore year Harold was one of a few to enjoy a refreshing morning dip in the icy waters of the Susquehanna, an aftermath of the "proc" scrap. Snyder will gladly furnish particulars. "Roughy's" athletic specialty is football, and both of our class victories in that sport were due in a large measure to him. Electricity is his hobby and his ambitions along that line were unaffected by "Simp's" advice that he had better change his course. We judge from his popularity about college and predict that his future will be great and fair.

WILLIAM DEAN READING

FRANKLIN

Franklin High School; Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Theta Delta Tau; Phi Delta Sigma; Euepia; Assistant Editor L'Agenda; Orange and Blue Staff, 1, 2; Athletic Editor Orange and Blue, 3; Class Football, 1; Class Tennis, 1, 2; Captain Class Tennis, 2; Varsity Football, 2, 3; Sophomore Banquet Committee; Junior Prom Committee; Medical Club; General Science Course; Journalism. "Bill."

The truest characterization of "Bill" lies in one word—"big." Being a by-product of the famous Franklin Sunday School, "the biggest in the world," as he repeatedly declares, we naturally expect big things of him. One need not look above his feet to be impressed with "Bill's" physical massiveness. That his mind, too, shares this trait is attested by his Johnsonian verbiage, which is employed alike to scourge his enemies and to eulogize his friends. His bigness in social conquests is proved by the extensive "back room" art gallery. Believing that "the pen is mightier than the pill," he turned last year from medicine to journalism and we suspect that the Old Bird, as well as the O. & B. and this volume, have had contributions from his "yeller" pencil.

FLORENCE ISABELLE REIMENSNYDER

MILTON

Milton High School; Delta Delta Delta; Junior "Ex"; Latin Philosophical Course.

Florence doesn't live at the Sem, for which she is duly thankful. She pities the poor shut-in Semites from the bottom of her heart, and is mighty glad she lives in Milton. Although she is one of the society girls of the class, Florence can justly be called an excellent student. She is such a whiz in French that Prof. Riemer is forced to acknowledge her efficiency by giving her an "A." To hear her ponderously intellectual discussions in Ethics and Psychology one would never dream that she does all her studying coming from Milton on the trolley in the morning. At the "Sem" Florence is known as the original optimist.

WILLIAM STANLEY REITZ

TREVORTON

Trevorton High School; Delta Theta Upsilon; Civil Engineering Course. "Bumper."

"Bumper" was born in 1892 at Trevorton, commonly called "the cross-roads." His environment during his childhood, i. e., from the time of his birth until he came to Bucknell, was in the coal-dust begrimed precincts of that miniature village. He dropped in upon the unsuspecting students at Bucknell in 1910 with a carpet-bag, a fancy to become an engineer, and a distressing patois of the anthracite region. His nickname "Bumper" came from one of his efforts to express himself in his mother tongue. His future is a question mark in red, but we feel assured that his high water mark of attainment will be well above that of the ordinary.

JOHN WINTER RICE

WILLIAMSPORT

Williamsport High School; Demosthenean; Euepia; Class Track, 1; Class Banquet Committee, 1. Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, 3; Editor Y. M. C. A. Handbook; General Science Course; Teaching. "Jack."

Jack is rarely seen around the campus. He has two haunts, the library and laboratory. As a fusser he is a standpatter, but as a student in the laboratory in chemistry we give him due credit. Jack came to Bucknell with strings on him. After he was here one year he pulled on those strings, and lo! she came to Bucknell, too. There developed an alarming case of Libraryitis but Jack has found a cure for it by a siege of study in toxicology, and the cure he says is pleasant.

EDWARD JOHN RICHARDS

HOMESTEAD

Homestead, the home of basketball, is also the home of Richards. To be more explicit, Homestead, you know, is near Pittsburgh. which to Dick's way of thinking is the dream of the ages. Pittsburgh is his slogan and by it he stands. When Dick arrived he had a large growth of hair that wasn't, but the hair soon put out its appearance. Dick is without a doubt one of the best natured fellows in the class, for he was not angry, merely cold in his manner after the Freshmen bathed him. In addition he is a consistent and powerful orator.

JESSE EARL RILEY

BRIEGPORT, W. VA.

Broadus Institute; Kappa Sigma; Euepia; Assistant Manager Varsity Basketball; Varsity Debating Team, 2, 3; Captain Varsity Debating Team, 3; Junior Debate; Treasurer Y. M. C. A.; President Woodrow Wilson Club; Class Banquet Committee, 2; Classical Course.

West Virginia pins her faith to two men—Senator Elkins and Jesse Earl Riley. The only advantage that the former has over his junior partner is that he got into college first. But we feel safe in predicting that before many moons shall have waned Jesse will outrival in oratory and statesmanship anybody or anything that mountainous old West Virginia has yet produced. He is always genial and cheery and whether in Anthropology or in Psychology his short laugh is always a sign that something funny has occurred. Long may he live to preach the gospel of cheerfulness and good will.

KARL WHITMAN RIPPEL

MILTON

Milton High School; Deutscher Verein; Electrical Engineering Society; Electrical Engineering Course.

Karl is one of the products of a nearby town, and, contrary to the law of man being honorless at home, we are glad to state that we are aware of the fact that Karl is an active and wideawake student. We have noticed that he never has eyes for the fair sex, and often wondered why he behaved so well. To our utter astonishment the fact became known that he was held by heavy ties in Milton; hence Karl's good conduct. Quiet and studious, we look for a bright future for him.

CLIFFORD R. SCHENCK

GREAT NECK, L. I., N. Y.

Lakewood High School; Phi Kappa Psi; University Band, 1, 2, 3; Mechanical Engineering Society; Mechanical Engineering Course. "Cad."

Here is our original New Yorker. Coming from the wilds of Great Neck, Cliff immediately proceeded to the conquest of the ladies of the surrounding country, and by his pleasing manner and peculiar mode of speaking soon had them all gathered around him. His trips to Milton became so numerous as to attract the attention of the Sophomores. The result was that he was met while coming from the 12:33, and, although he made a 220-dash in record time, he was overtaken and compelled to pay the penalty on one of the tombstones of the cemetery. When not otherwise occupied his chief specialty is the slide trombone.

FRED OSCAR SCHNURE

MILTON

Turbotville High School; Kappa Delta Phi; Class Football, 2; Manager Class Track Team, 2; Vice President Class, 2; Junior Prom Committee; Electrical Engineering Society; Electrical Engineering Course. 'Snooks.'

Fred's first debut into the limelight happened at High School when he concluded that the most effective way to get rid of the Junior flags was by setting fire to the flagstaff. But his subsequent interview with the school directors is too painful for reminiscence. Electrical Engineering is Fred's chosen profession, and those who know him intimately predict for him a successful career. But his attention is not wholly devoted to electrical work. He delights to talk about automobiles, and when in a heated discussion he exclaims, "She is a perfect peach," we are in doubt as to whether he refers to the Marmon car, or to a certain young lady in Watsontown.

JOHN GRANVILLE SCOUTON

DUSHORE

Scranton High School; Bucknell Academy; Sigma Chi; Theta Delta Tau; L'Agenda Board; Jurisprudence Course.

Probably the best thing that Dushore ever did, for itself as well as us, was to send John to Bucknell, where, after serving a nine months' sentence in the Academy, he sprang into lasting fame as "The Freshman who never bought a box of matches." His sole ambition in life, if we accept his own statement, is to marry a country girl who owns three farms and two hundred thousand dollars. Most of his dressed-up time he spends evading work and in helping the Seminary Freshmen girls to do likewise. Clog dancing is the only form of athletics that John indulges in, but he is very proficient in that sport and the grace and agility with which he handles his No. 10's would do credit to Grace Hoffman. (Muncy papers please copy.)

LEVI HUBBARD SHATTUCK

WELLSBORO

Wellsboro High School; Conway Hall; Dickinson Seminary; Phi Gamma Delta; Euepia; President Inter-Collegiate Debating Society; Orange and Blue Board; L'Agenda Board; Alternate Varsity Debating Team, 2; Law Club; Jurisprudence Course.

Levi, although a friend of Markle, is not of Hebraic extraction. He came to us in his Sophomore year, and, afraid of becoming a rough neck, procured a room downtown. Levi is a zealous student, a profound philosopher, and a practical lawyer. For proof of the latter statement, ask him how he aided "Abie" Winter in baffling the Lewisburg Police Department and his friend the sheriff. Furthermore, he is a fusser, and often talks about the girls "up to hum." Not long ago he planned a trip to Baltimore, but hearing of a Teachers' Institute in Wellsboro, suddenly grew ill and went home. Here's wishing you luck, Levi, in your legal profession.

MARIAN ESTHER SHIVERS

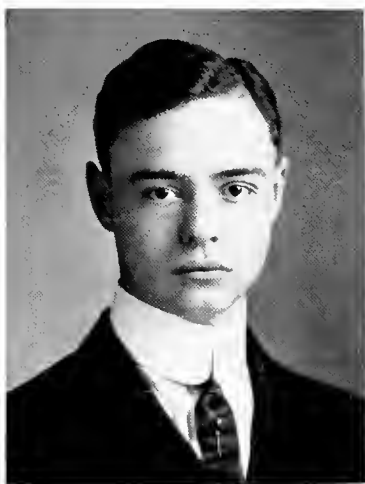

HADDONFIELD, N. J.

Haddonfield High School; Frill and Frown; Glee Club; Deutscher Verein; Latin Philosophical Course.

"Why, do you know girls, I don't know a thing about this Ethics and I've just got to get my Dutch done!" Enter Marian.

When Marian first came to college, she thought there was no vocation for which she would ever be fitted, but of course she was still very young. In her Sophomore year she decided that she had dramatic ability and gave loud evidence of the fact from the gym. But this year she has devoted her time and energy so strenuously to chemistry and missions, that we are in doubt as to whether she will become a famous alchemist or a missionary to "queueless" Chinamen. Marian is generous, good-natured, and may always be depended upon to help out in any work there is to be done.

CLINTON FRANCIS SNYDER

SHAMOKIN

Minersville High School; Bucknell Band; Chemical Engineering Society; Chemical Engineering Course.

The fact that this member of our class comes from Minersville might lead us to think that he is affiliated with the mining industry; instead, he is a very quiet and unobtrusive alchemist. Although he takes a deep interest in all his courses, his liking for Sophomore Rhetoric almost caused him to change his course. Nevertheless, he deemed this action unwise, and has since shown such remarkable development that we hope to send him back to his native town as a shining example of what good training can do for a man.

HARRY SYLVESTER STAHLER

MAUCH CHUNK

Mauch Chunk High School; Forum; Class Basketball, 1, 2; Class Baseball, 1, 2; Jurisprudence Course.

Trained in the high school of the above metropolis to be an athlete of some renown both in basketball and baseball, Harry broke away from home environments and became one of us in the fall of '10. A certain timidity which he could not overcome forced him to live downtown during his Freshman year, but now that all fear of the Sophomores is over, he has moved his possessions up the hill and takes part in all the student activities. Although a good basketball and baseball player he is noted chiefly as a "Walker."

RAYMOND BEAUMONT STAPLETON

MIFFLINBURG

Lewisburg High School; Mifflinburg High School; Class Football, 2; General Science Course. "Sleepy."

No class is complete in personnel without a "modern Rip Van Winkle." Here is our blue-ribbon claimant for that appellation and we guarantee him to be A-1, genuine, and without a worthy rival. "Sleep" should have been his middle name. Stapleton is known to have fallen into profound slumbers in every class he had on one day and then to have complained because the days were so long. Besides being a devotee at the shrine of Morpheus he is also a worshiper of the fair sex and hopes to sometime be known as the Beau Brummel of Mifflinburg.

HELEN GLAZE STOUT

MILTON

Milton High School; Latin Philosophical Course. "Helene."

Helen belongs to the Milton "bunch," and generally does her share to keep things from stagnating on the way to and from school. She is an early riser from force of circumstances—she has an eight o'clock class, and the car leaves Milton at 7:30 A. M. promptly. Bucknell has done much to "bring Helen out" within these last three years: when she attended Milton High School, she scarcely ever talked, laughed, or joked; now she is one of the jolliest, wittiest, most talkative girls in any crowd—a living example of the old proverb, "Laugh and grow fat."

VICTOR FRANCIS SWENSON

SUSQUEHANNA

Susquehanna High School; Lehigh University; Phi Kappa Psi; Class Track, 2; Chairman Junior Smoker Committee; Manager Bucknell Band; Electrical Engineering Society; Electrical Engineering Course. "Vic."

keep him constantly in his room. A good student and a jolly companion, we are glad to have him as a class-mate.

ALFRED SMITH VAN OSTEN

PHILADELPHIA

Northeast Manual Training High School; L'Agenda Board; University Quartet, 1; Minstrels, 1, 2; Manager Glee Club, 2, 3; Deutscher Verein, 2, 3; Greek Philosophical Course; Teaching. "Van."

In this quiet and unassuming personage whom most of us rarely see we have the warbler of the class. With "Prexy" and "Paul" he completes the royal triumvirate that runs the chapel service at eight o'clock every morning. "Van" has become engrossed in two subjects, German and Music, and is know as a whiz in both. Of late, however, even these seem to fail to hold his attention at times, and then he plans a trip to a certain suburb a few miles up the Susquehanna. Although a resident of Lewisburg he decided after the last election to cast his vote in Philadelphia.

HARRY BRUNGART WEAVER

REBERSBURG

Mercersburg Academy; Alpha Sigma; Manager L'Agenda; Latin Philosophical Course. "Whitey."

In the fall of '10 this smiling youth left his beloved mountain home in Centre county and "set sail" for old Bucknell. "Whitey" was received with open arms by all of us in general and by some of us in particular. He soon showed his loyalty to us by suffering physical injury in our proc scrap. Not daunted by this experience, he has further shown his loyalty to '14 by undertaking the management of this sacred volume. As a result, he is now turning the business world upside-down with a vim and energy that must win. Lucky for the class of '14 that it has fallen to "Whitey's" "lot" to weave(r) out the destinies of this holy writ.

ALVIE MCGREGOR WELCHONS

ROCKDALE MILLS

Washington High School; Class Football, 2; Class Basketball, 2, 3; Biological Course. "Welly."

This husky youth, Scotch from his sandy hair to his loud socks, can be as loyal to his class as ever a MacGregor or a Graeme was to his clan on the bonnie banks of Loch Lomond. Witness his above-mentioned football and basketball record. With his love of athletics, there goes an inclination for study; but on this point he is very versatile. He seems to like Sociology as much as he does physics (in the latter he is known to have made marks as low as 100). He, however, is unobtrusive; so much so, in fact, that one can scarcely find him in his room even if he is there. Alvie is not a rough-neck. This erroneous idea comes from comparing him with either Shoemaker or Markowitz.

STEPHEN KUHN WELLS

BLOOMSBURG

Bloomsburg High School; Bloomsburg Normal; Medical Society; Biological Course. "Teeny."

"Terrible Teeny" hails from the far-famed and world-renowned hamlet of Bloomsburg. If you want to know how to do anything, report to our Stephen and he will tell you how he did it over in "Bloom." He came to us from the high school of that village well prepared to take up the course in medicine, but when he entered upon his second year of toil he found that his course must be changed; as a result he took up one of the numerous "special" courses which are sometimes resorted to by boys who are severely smitten. The crescent that can be plainly seen adorning his vest would lead one to think that "Teeny" has adopted the Mohammedan faith. But "Teeny" says that this is an emblem of better things.

PAUL RAYMOND WENDT

WILLIAMSPORT

Williamsport High School; Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Euepia; Class President, I; Toastmaster Class Banquet, I; Editor-in-Chief Orange and Blue; Editor-in-Chief Commencement News; L'Agenda Board; Freshman Declamation Contest; Junior "Ex"; Deutscher Verein; General Science Course; Journalism. "P. R.," "Dockie."

Emerson once said, "The writer shall not dig." But that the writer may also be a "digger" without fear of the charge of mediocrity in either we find in "Dockie" a conclusive proof. As agent of the Book Trust, understudy to Dr. Martin, and exponent of "The Square Deal for Everybody," he has evinced much business acumen, chaperonagical finesse, and political progressiveness. Having cornered most of the college curriculum in three years he will graduate with the present senior class, after which he'll do things in education and journalism.

NORMAN WILLMER WHITED

HAWTHORNE

Hawthorne High School; Grove City College; Forum; Class Football, 1, 2; Class Banquet Committee, 2; Civil Engineering Course. "White."

"White" has a decided advantage over most of the fellows in his class in the matter of adipose tissue. When he first came into our midst he had a great deal of difficulty in expressing himself clearly, but college environment soon began to have its effects upon this ambulating product of Mellin's Food. "White" is very fond of football and is one of the first to return in the fall to take it up.

Should "White" ever get a chance to put his latent energies into action he would surely cause some mundane commotion.

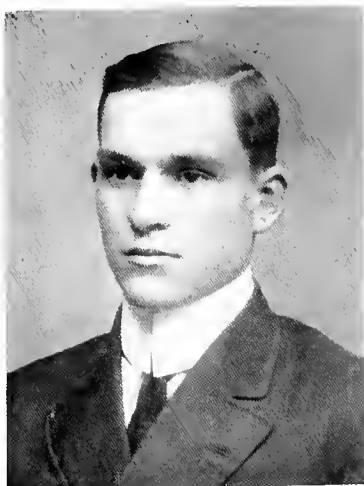

EDNA ALICE WHITTAM

CHESTER

When Edna first came to college, she was a demure maiden who had firmly decided upon a life of spinsterhood. After the first term, however, we saw a transformation, and "Marwood" and "the boys" became to our hitherto subdued Edna of much more vital importance than her friend Livy or the binomial theorem. At the present, we have grave fears that her college education will have been in vain, for her big heart, hospitality, and love of cooking seem to point to a course of domestic science, rather than to a consecrated life of service as an "old maid school marm."

JOHN FRANCIS WINKELBLECH

LEWISBURG

Lewisburg High School; Forum; Sophomore Oratorical Contest; Greek Philosophical Course; Ministry. "Wink."

"Wink" is an active member of the incandescent club. He rooms with "Happy," 19 East Wing. How these two "birds of a feather" chanced to be room mates is a matter known to themselves alone. Only this year has he decided to room on the "hill" and enjoy all the activities of college life. Besides taking great pride in his ability to fool the batter with his wide outshoot he knows how to enjoy a joke, preferably his own. "Wink" is a close student and an ardent disciple of Bromley Smith. We are sure thru his thrift and integrity, he will be worthy of the clerical garb.

SAMUEL LEIDY WILSON

PHILIPSBURG

Philipsburg High School; Forum; General Science Course. "Governor."

"Governor" is demure and thoughtful. We would think him immune from the fascination of the fairer sex but for his frequent visits to Milton and for a photographic representation of some absent one on his desk. "Governor" received his nom-de-plume from being a distant relative of Woodrow which he is too modest to confess. He dropped into our ranks this year and is now striving very hard to become a worthy comrade. He entered Bucknell in 1908 but desiring to gain a wider experience before finishing his course, left school and took several summer courses at State. Besides being a good student he is a mighty fine fellow.

FRANK BEACHAM WORRILOW

CHESTER

Chester High School; Phi Kappa Psi; L'Agenda Board; Varsity Baseball, 1, 2, 3; Captain Varsity Baseball, 3; Captain Class Baseball, 1; Class President, 2; Banquet Committee, 1; Chemical Engineering Society; Chemical Engineering Course. "Skin."

Those winning tender eyes and the marcel wave in his pompadour make "Skin" one of the most ardent fussers of the class. When, beginning with Brooklyn and ending with Asheville, N.C., he names the different towns in which he has a sweetheart, we are reminded of a train caller. He is equipped with a body which fits his nick-name, but he holds to the saying that it is quality and not quantity that counts. This he demonstrated when he chose "The Diamond," and he has held a position on the Varsity ever since he landed.

DORRANCE DANA ZINN

PHILIPPI, W. VA.

Broadus Institute; Phi Gamma Delta; Euepia; L'Agenda Board; Orange and Blue Board; Associate Editor Commencement News, 2; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet; General Science Course.

The unassuming personage whose picture you see before you has the distinction of being the only man in the class who can sign his name with a "D. D." Coming from the untamed wilds of West Virginia, northern civilization has exerted a strong influence upon his development. This year, when not engaged in the study of chemical formulae, he has been hard at work trying to cultivate our aesthetic tastes by means of the Y. M. C. A. Lecture Course. A good student and a jolly companion, we predict for him a bright future.

Sophomore Class Poem

HOW did the class of bold fifteen,
When by the Sophomores scorned as green,
Such victories win with valor true
To the grand ideals of Orange and Blue?
Of course we are proud of our deeds thus far,
And we hope our records we'll never mar.

When at last we sit in Commencement Hall,
With sad hearts answering the old world's call,
We'll never regret our actions then,
But live over these days with pleasure again.
So here's to the hope we'll fare right well
And loyal remain to dear Bucknell.

WINIFRED W. MILLER.

Sophomore Class History

LAP! Bang! Here we come again, the class of 1915 returning from our summer vacation. The slap is the token of welcome for our classmates and the bang the token of sovereignty over the incoming class of 1916. What have we done so far? Accomplished the tasks set before us; conquered and made friends with our foes.

Of course the first important matter was to bring into subjection the class of 1916; this was easily done. When you stop to consider that in the art of warfare the class of 1915 ranks with, if not above, the army of Hannibal, it is not to be wondered at that this illustrious band was the first to defeat the vast horde of freshmen. Striking and strange as the outcome of the class scrap was, it only proves that the sophomore class is invincible in a battle of brawn.

Passing over the football game with a sorrowful silence, the next event was the class banquet. This important affair proved a great success, and the record of it has been curtailed to make way for greater subjects.

It is a well known fact that the Fates have destined this class to be the brightest in the history of the institution, but only they know what is to be inscribed on the pages yet to be turned. It is the sincere hope of every member that the aim of the Class of 1916, and of all classes following, will be to reach the standard set for them by their renowned predecessors, the Class of 1915.

Freshman Class History

LAST December two drummers were overheard in a conversation which took place in a certain Sunbury hotel. Evidently their names were Bill and Tom, for thus they addressed each other.

"Yes, Bill, I believe so myself. That class is certainly the best class I've ever seen at Bucknell. Do you know, Bill, that 1916 Class is going to bring honors to Bucknell. I happened to be in Lewisburg last September and saw the Freshman-Sophomore scrap. Believe me, that was 'some' fight. Those freshmen lined up in single file at the Chapel and marched over to the Athletic Field, every fellow looking like a Roman knight, resolved to win or die in the attempt. The Sophomores won the scrap, but they had to fight for every Freshman they got over the line."

"Yes, Tom, I believe also that the 1916 Class is destined to play an important part in the history of the college. I saw the Freshmen play the Sophomores in football, and there was nothing to it. All the Freshmen did was call signals, make three or four runs, and they had a touchdown. When the final whistles blew they had heaped up 34 points while the Sophomores had not scored."

"Well, from what I've seen and heard of the 1916 Class, we can expect some fine records made by them in athletics; furthermore, they are not only athletically inclined, but I've heard that they're a class who realize that for a broad education there must be a mental, social, and moral development as well. Without a doubt they will bring honor and fame to the name of "Old Bucknell."

VICTOR E. LEWIS, Historian.

Freshman Class Poem

Far away in country high schools
Or in cities known to fame
We had heard of Bucknell's praises
And the honor of her name.

So we gathered in the hallways
Of the "College on the Hill,"
Thinking here to find much knowledge,
And our minds with facts to fill.

But we're learning more than science,
More than arts, or skill with pen;
We are learning here the lessons
Which will make us better men.

From the lives of those about us
We are learning now to know
All life's beauties and its wonders,
And these in our lives to show.

So we, too, sing Bucknell's praises,
And her honor we will tell,
For we're true to Alma Mater,
We are loyal to Bucknell.

AMY PATTERSON, Poetess.

~ L'AGENDA ~

The Origin of L'Agenda

BY RAYMOND M. WEST

RAYMOND M. WEST, D.D.,
Editor 1889 L'Agenda.

'AGENDA was the result of "growing pains" in the student consciousness at Bucknell. Various students had in their rooms the annuals of other older and larger universities. Some students criticized the university for not having such a publication, others said, "Let us have one." Among the latter was William C. Gretzinger of the class of 1889. Under his leadership special meetings of class '89 were called, conferences were held with students of other universities, and at last, with the fear and temerity due to conscious inexperience and the exhilaration due to facing the unknown, we decided to publish an annual.

The college community received the idea with varying manifestations. The faculty gave us encouraging support, the seniors smiled the smile of regret that they had just missed it, the sophomores jeered, while the freshmen grinned to see their big brothers in the limelight. We—well, we rolled up our sleeves and went at it. "Gretz," who had been chosen as manager, hustled to get a bank account while I worked to prepare clothes in time for the birthday we had audaciously fixed. There were no experienced hands on the job and no Bucknell patterns. The patterns obtained from other colleges were all too expensive and the vest cut too low. We did not want our baby to appear in a gentleman's evening dress and be born a bankrupt. We were chiefly determined that the child should be so healthy that his growth would keep all the classes which followed us in the University jumping to feed and clothe him. I am confident that the various editors and managers up to the present will testify that we succeeded.

It is a pleasure to associate with this full grown, faultlessly attired and affluent man on the occasion of his twenty-fifth birthday and to assure him that his daddy, '89, loves him still.

The First L'Agenda

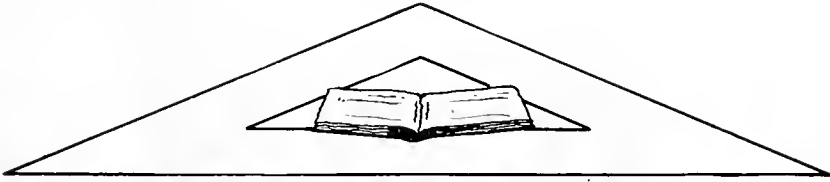

THE enterprising Class of 1889 gave to Bucknell the first L'Agenda. For several years many of the best students had recognized the need of a permanent Year Book to represent the lighter side of college life. They believed that it would be enjoyed by the student and that it would linger as a pleasant reminiscence in the mind of the alumnus. Accordingly the Class of 1889 published the first L'Agenda.

The purpose of the book in the words of the editor was "to treat in a characteristic student way that secondary student curriculum, laid down by that essential, inevitable spirit of activity and youth, which makes every strong and wide-awake college student."

The first edition of L'Agenda was much similar to editions of the present form. It had, however, no definite dedicatees; the front page records: "Knowing that unexpected greatness and distinction has a soothing effect upon troubled spirits, the editors charitably dedicate this volume to those whom its contents may chance to anger." In other respects the first L'Agenda was like the present one. The faculty, the four classes, with their histories and poems, the three fraternities, the Institute, and Academy—all received their appropriate space and treatment. The poetry, in amount somewhat greater than that published in the present volume, was of a quite serious type. The feature of the book was a sketch of the life of David Jayne Hill.

In every way the first L'Agenda was a forerunner of the present edition and was a commendable attempt to furnish a permanent Year Book at Bucknell.

Y. W. C. A.

The girls who were sent to the Eagles Mere Conference last year came back to college last fall filled with enthusiasm and with the determination to make Y. W. C. A. stand for all that is noblest and truest and best in a college girl's life at Bucknell. No doubt many of their dreams have not been realized, but we can truthfully say that under the leadership of Rachel Davis, Y. W. C. A. has taken long strides toward the attainment of the ideal it has set up. The Tuesday evening meetings have been inspiring and have been well attended. The Social Service Committee has held a class in Literature every Monday and Thursday evening for the benefit of those who have been deprived of the privilege of attending college. Financially, Y. W. has also been a success. The goal now, from a financial point of view, is Eagles Mere, and the Conference Committee is straining every nerve to get together enough funds to send even a larger delegation than last year.

From every point of view, then, Y. W. C. A. can be said to have had a very successful year, and the girls are looking forward with the brightest of hopes for making next year even better.

Baseball Review

CAPTAIN O'BRIEN

IN baseball Bucknell can be justly proud of her splendid record during the season of 1912. With six of the previous year's team as a nucleus, and with an abundance of excellent new material to pick from, Coach Dickson turned out one of the best teams that has represented Bucknell in recent years. The result—fifteen games won out of eighteen played—shows that the Orange and Blue is still keeping up to her reputation as far as the national game is concerned.

The season was opened on April sixth at Lewisburg, when the Mifflinburg Semi-Professional team was defeated 20 to 6. On April seventeenth the team started on its first trip, which included West Point, Seton Hall, Manhattan, and Fordham.

Two of these games, Seton Hall and Manhattan, were cancelled because of rain, while the Army and Fordham were defeated 7 to 1 and 1 to 0 respectively. On April twenty-fifth we met the first defeat of the season at the hands of Manager Cockill's Harrisburg Tri-State team, the winner of the season's pennant. The following four games, including Gettysburg, Milton Professionals, Susquehanna, and Mercersburg Academy, resulted in splendid victories for us. The game at Annapolis against the Navy was perhaps the most brilliant, yet the most disappointing of the season; for after a struggle of twelve innings the Navy succeeded in defeating the Orange and Blue, 8 to 7.

With the Navy game the hardest part of the season was over. Four teams, Berwick Professionals, Philadelphia College of Osteopathy, Susquehanna, and University of Pittsburg, were defeated with decisive scores. Three victories during Commencement week, two over the Milton Professionals and one over the Alumni, brought to a close the successful baseball season of 1912.

VARSITY FOOTBALL TEAM

Football Review

CAPTAIN JORDAN

HE season of 1912 may be well called the best season that Bucknell has had in football in recent years.

Coach Dickson, having turned out winning elevens the two previous years, was again chosen to coach the team, and with all the men of the 1911 season back with the exception of Captain Schmid, Tyson, and Bartholomew, the team looked like a winner from the very start of the season. Jordan, who had played a consistent game at end the three previous seasons, was chosen to lead the team.

The first two games, resulting in scores of 39-0 and 41-0 over Hillman Academy and Wyoming Seminary, gave the coach an opportunity to try out all candidates and to fill the vacancies, which was done with general satisfaction. On October 6, in the first really hard game of the season, the University of Pittsburg went down to defeat by the score of 6-0. St. Bonaventure appeared in Lewisburg the next week, and again the Orange and Blue was victorious, 39-7. In this game Topham, the full-back, had his wrist broken, which proved a serious handicap in the next few games. On October 26 we played Cornell and were defeated, 14-0. The Bucknell team was outweighed, the game was played on a wet and muddy field in a drizzling rain, and, with the loss of Topham, we did well to hold our opponents to such a low score.

The season was now half over and the big games ahead. Lafayette, who had beaten Pennsylvania, 7-3, the week before, was our opponent at Easton on November 2, and the game ended in a scoreless tie. The next week saw the greatest victory of the season and one of the greatest in recent years. It was the overwhelming defeat of the Navy by the score of 17-7. The Bucknell team played great football, and the long end runs of Sturgis and Jordan and the line plunging of the backfield men were the sensational features of the game. Swarthmore, our old rival, was met the next week, and although playing admittedly better ball, we lost by the close score of 14-13. It was the most exciting game ever seen on the Swarthmore gridiron, goals from the field being missed by inches when they meant the winning of the game. Gettysburg was easily disposed of at Harrisburg on November 23 by the score of 35-0. The closing game of the season was played on Thanksgiving Day with Washington and Jefferson, and our heavy opponents defeated us, 22-7.

Thus, with victories over the Navy, University of Pittsburg, and Gettysburg, and a scoreless tie with Lafayette, the Orange and Blue closed a most successful season on the gridiron.

VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM

Review of the Season

The only athletic team that did not come up to all expectations this year was the basket ball team. However, when it is remembered that Fullmer and Bartholomew, two of the mainstays of the 1912 season, did not return to school, and that Fisher, the centre and captain, was not able to play in a game all season due to illness, it must be granted that the team put up a plucky fight and is deserving of all praise. Ten candidates tried out for the various positions, and so much shifting was done during the season that the line-up was practically different in every game except the last five. The team was coached by Zehner, captain of last year's team, who also played guard.

The first game, against Bloomsburg Normal, was played without any practice and resulted in a defeat, 12-23. The next four games were all exceedingly closely contested, and in all of them the Orange and Blue was victorious, winning from Lebanon Valley, Susquehanna, and Gettysburg at home and from Susquehanna at Selinsgrove. The last Susquehanna game was probably the most exciting game on the schedule, for after having the small end of the score all the way through the Bucknell team took a sudden brace and forged ahead at the close, winning the game, 21-18. The following week Allegheny, winning by the score of 46-5, gave Bucknell the worst defeat she has ever had on the home floor. The games against Pratt Institute, Harrisburg Collegians, and University of Pittsburg were all lost by small margins. In the next game at South Bethlehem, Lehigh easily defeated the Varsity, 48-17, after which Albright was victorious in two games and Franklin and Marshall in one. During the last week of the season the team took a much needed brace, and, although not a game was won, Georgetown, Mt. St. Mary's, and Gettysburg were all held to low scores.

Although the season cannot be called at all successful from the standpoint of the number of victories, nevertheless prospects for a good team next year are fairly bright, and it is earnestly hoped that the team representing the Orange and Blue will once more measure up to the standards set by the teams of olden times.

The Seniors

OWERING sun in splendor bathing
Shimmering sky and stilly earth;
Peaceful world with closing eyelids,
Sinking into sleepy berth.

Bull-frogs croaking guttural cadence,
O'er the placid shadowy breast
Of the Susquehanna, soothing
Tired nature into rest.

River road a peaceful pathway,
Casting sheltering shadows round;
Man and maiden sauntering slowly,
Voices just a murmuring sound.

Years, in number four, had circled
Since these two had sought Bucknell;
Minds grown strong and hearts grown truer
Proved the fact of time spent well.

"'Tis the last we'll stroll together
Underneath these willows low.
Our college days are nearly over,
To Life's battles we must go.

"If consent to early marriage
Can be coaxed from them so soon,
By the sinking sun tomorrow
We'll be on our honeymoon."

Thus he spake and she was willing,
So they sealed it with a kiss;
Next day both matriculated
Into matrimonial bliss.

The Changing Viewpoint of the College Student

INDIVIDUALS are like the weather: they are never quite the same to-day as yesterday. A breath of wind springing from the east may be a likely precursor of rain; a new thought in the mind of an individual infallibly augurs that to-morrow will bring a resultant change in the usual order of things for that individual. Neophytes, too, entering into the mysteries of an unknown order, risk, perhaps unconsciously, their happy viewpoint of life fashioned from an unchecked past. Neither is the college student immune to the relentless, inevitable influence of new ideas. He may cling faithfully to the viewpoint of his past, and it is a mark of strength that he is not a shifting shuttle in the face of a new environment; yet truth is more invincible than a Cromwell's Ironsides or a Caesar's Tenth Legion and is Nemesis-like pursuant, so that he finds an utterly new order of things bringing a conscious change in him. Thus the Freshman, the neophyte in the college order, does not have the same perspective as the Senior.

We hear great talk about what the college does for the student and what change it accomplishes in his perspective; how, too, he swiftly grows in power of concentration and how he acquires mental precision in solving for himself the swarming problems in his new sphere; yet the change in the student's viewpoint of the college itself is equally impressive. The very unexpectedness of the change makes it impressive. To enter college with all the rosy-hued dreams of its sportive life is one thing; to find therein all the problems of the outside world, and an infinitely greater opportunity for improvement, is another. The college is a little world all of itself. The need is there of constant application, of discerning the caprice and whims of human nature, and of choosing aright where wrong may be gloriously tinted by pseudo-artists who misinterpret the desirable things in college life. Therein lies the change in the viewpoint of the Senior.

EPHRAIM HEIM VERSUS THE JUNIORS

Personae—EPHRAIM HEIM and two dozen juniors.

Referee, Umpire, and Field Judge—This same EPHRAIM HEIM

First Half

Eph. kicks off to Still who, having been fussing in the library during practice, is downed in his tracks. Score Eph. 7—Juniors 0.

Still passes to Wendt who plays defensively.

Reading substituted for Wendt.

Eph. plays stronger as half progresses.

Reading tries several fake plays, but Eph. downs him in his tracks.

Shattuck replaces Reading.

Eph. still in possession of ball.

Shattuck plays nervously.

Eph. has the wind in his favor.

Shattuck gets possession of the ball and to the surprise of the sleepy spectators makes first score for the Juniors.

Eph. holds Shattuck for downs and takes possession of ball.

Eph. whole show again.

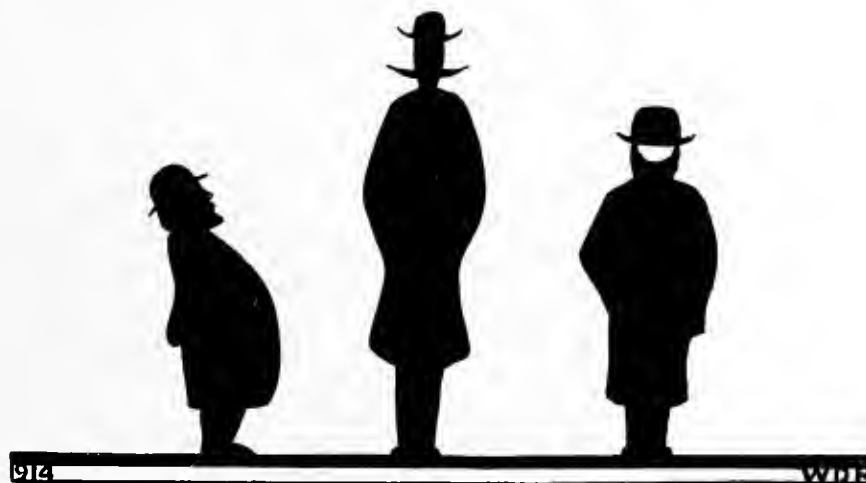

Shattuck makes forward pass to Stahler.

Time called. Score 7—7.

Second Half

Half starts with Stahler in possession of ball.
Eph. growing stronger.
Dorrell begins warming up to replace Stahler in case of the latter's injury.
Eph. sees Dorrell and makes unexpected punt to Riley in back seat.
Rear seat spectators awaken with a start.
Eph. growing dangerous.
Riley returns the ball well.
Riley injured; Markle is substituted.
Markle now has the wind in his favor.
Eph. on defensive.
Markle refuses to give up possession of ball.
Eph. playing nervously.
Spectators growing tired of uninteresting contest.
Only three more minutes to play!
Markle mobbed by spectators for hogging the ball.
Eph. now growing weary too.
Heim needs rest and calls game. End of contest.
Final score 7—7, in favor of Eph.

Only a Dream

'T WAS in Dr. Phillips' Ethics class,
I slept, and seemed to see
A vision of this college
Just as it ought to be.

The faculty went to chapel,
The students did the same,
And there really was a service
In fact as well as name.

Athletics fees were paid by all
At the rate of ten per year,
And the boys had college spirit
As the various teams they'd cheer.

No more did dead-heads line the track
To see a game of ball,
For lo! the diamond was enclosed
By a stately, massive wall.

Some library-loving fussers
Had severed the marriage yoke,
And no longer spooned in public—then
The bell rang. I awoke.

Ze Chemical Lab

PLACE for exploitation of the laws of thunderation,

Mixed with sulphur and damnation, and with fulminating fizz:

Where we go to raise a ruction, learn to reason by induction,

That by Newton's law of suction, we are certain that "it is."

Where sweet incense ever burning, sets our nostrils sadly yearning

For pure ozone's glad returning,—and fit atmosphere to breathe;

While dark clouds our heads o'erhanging, caused by loud dynamic banging.

With the harsh incessant clanging—of a blast lamp fairly seeth.

Where explosions happen daily, no enchantments for the aily,

Since the air is always haily—with some falling of debris;

Where 'tis not to be expected, that discussions be neglected,

So that work might be reflected—hours to loaf from nine to three.

Willie, Willie, Willie

HE was modest, young, and handsome—
Harold McIlvaine Dorrell,
Filled with wonderful ambitions
Came a freshman to Bucknell.

Like unto a few immortals,
He was pure as crystal clear;
Never had he smoked a corn-cob,
Never soiled his lips with beer.

But the poet's heart grows sadder
As he pens this humble sketch,
When he sees the many pitfalls
That before our hero stretch.

From the moment that he entered
Bucknell's eruditing hall
Every man of 1913
Knew his class must rise or fall

By the actions of this freshman
So they into conclave got;
To secure the annual class scrap
They devised a treacherous plot.

On the eve before the battle,
Armed with paddles stout and strong,
Fifty sophs to Winfield bore him
Firmly bound with rope and thong.

Here upon his word of honor
Each was willing to rely,
For, like Washington immortal,
Willie never told a lie.

Most reluctantly he promised
From the scrap to stay away.
It was well, for many sophomores
Would have mourned that bloody day.

When he knew no power could help him
None in either earth nor hell,
Only then our hero promised.
Bravo! Nobly done! Dorrell.

Within hearing of the battle,
Forced about the fields to roam,
Hot his wrath did grow and hotter
At each comrade's yell and groan.

Like a warhorse in the conflict
Fain he would the field have swept;
But his honor was the forfeit,
So the promise made, he kept.

Men will sing the praise of heroes
Who for love and home did bleed.
Why not chant a fitting paean
For the author of this deed?

An Aftermath of Leap Year

I always heard that college life
Was but one round of fun,
And so I packed my trunks and came
To see how it was done.

I first was told that men were thick,
Could find them anywhere,
And so I started out to choose
By using greatest care.

I studied old L'Agendas through
To find the handsome one.
The girls all helped me pick him out
And I was in for fun.

I sauntered up to him one day
And asked him for a date,
I thought 'twas time I hustled up.
The term was getting late.

The library was our rendezvous
Next day at three-fifteen.
I wanted to be there on time
And with a beau be seen.

I waited for what seemed an hour
Until my Love came in;
We found a quiet corner then
And settled down to "chin."

What is wrong? Why look so scared?
I calmly asked of John.
I turned to look, then back again,
And found that John had gone.

'Twas Doctor Martin at my rear
And how he stormed and tore.
He stormed and stamped, then took a rest,
And then he stormed some more.

"You ought to know, my little Miss,
This well equipped book room
Is but for work, although I fear
A court house is its doom."

Good bye, My note book,
Farewell to you;
One last fond look
Upon your words so true.
 Prexie is calling
 Me to recite,
Still I am longing for one last fond sight.

The Rising Bell

When DADDY rings the bell

At 6:45 A. M.

At the Sem.,

How we scramble out pell mell,

As the sweetly sounding summons rise and swell

Through the corridors and halls;

On the ear it gently falls,

Gently whispers, gently calls,

From the dreamy land of slumber

To our troubles without number

To a breakfast of potatoes,

Of potatoes, taters, taters,

To a breakfast of potatoes

Fried in lard.

Oh, that bell!

Do we love its clanging sound

Wandering up and down and round,

Waking us from sweetest slumber

To our troubles without number,

To a breakfast of potatoes

Every morn?

Do we scramble out pell mell

When DADDY rings the bell

At 6:45 A. M.

At the Sem.?

You bet we don't,

And I wouldn't like to tell you what we say!

And among ourselves we softly whisper, "——"!

Picked Up on the Hill

IN HISTORY

Prof. Colestock: "When did the revival of learning begin?"

"Red" Lowther: "Just before the exams."

—o—

Van Dine, in the Chemical Lab.: "Professor, where can I get an inverted test-tube?"

—o—

Kelly, '15, (after being told that his work in Latin is below par): "But, professor, I am trying my best to get ahead."

Prof. Ballentine: "Heaven knows you need one."

—o—

IN ENTOMOLOGY

Prof. Stewart: "How many sexes are there?"

Richardson, '13 (after some thought): Three, male sex, female sex, and insects."

—o—

Prof. Owens (in Chemistry): "What are the properties of water?"

"Caruso" Speer: "It's wet and runs down hill."

—o—

Little sharp explosions,
Little sparks of wit,
Make our deutscher Lehrer
Quite a college "hit."

A COMPARISON OF COURSES

GOLIGHTLY: "That civil engineering course is the stiffest thing I ever hit. Just now we are having Roads and Pavements."

LINDBERG: "That's nothing; in the electrical we have Rhodes and Lindemann all the time."

—o—

SHATTUCK (delivering Y. M. C. A. tickets): "Can I see Mrs. Thomson?"

SERVANT: "She is having a fit just now."

SHATTUCK (eagerly): "Oh, is there anything I can do? Can't I be of some service?"

SERVANT: "I'm afraid not; Mrs. Thomson is a dressmaker."

(Exit Shattuck in haste)

..

—o—

Laugh and Colestock laughs with you;

Laugh and you laugh alone.

The first when the joke is Colestock's joke,

The last when it's one of your own.

—o—

DR. PERRINE (after explaining a passage in Shakespeare): "Is it clear, Mr. Cook?"

"DOC" (waking with a start): "No, it looks like rain."

Lives of all great studes remind us

We should strive to do our best;

And departing, leave behind us

Notebooks that will help the rest.

Little Johnny Freshman

LITTLE Johnny Freshman's come to our school to stay
To study Trig and Algebra and be a man some day.
He wants to make the football team, and win a great big "B";
He thinks he'll be class president, and then—"why don't you see,
The others won't be in it; 'twill be the greatest fun
A-showin' all the other chaps just how the place is run."
But, Little Johnny Freshman, just watch what you're about;
The Sophomores'll get you
Ef you
don't watch
out!

But our friend young Freshman said he didn't care a rap.
No matter what the others did, he wouldn't wear a cap;
He wouldn't mind the Freshman Rules; stayed out 'way after ten;
He'd come in any hour of night—it didn't matter when.
His friends grew kinda nervous; began to sorta fret,
They feared some dreadful thing would happen to their little pet.
They said unto that foolish one, "Just watch what you're about,
Er the Sophomores'll get you
Ef you
don't watch
out!

One night young Johnny Freshman was sleeping safe in bed;

He'd written home to Mother, likewise to Uncle Ted.

A-sleeping peacefully he lay, when suddenly a sound

Upon the door caused him in haste from bed to bound.

An' when he'd opened up his door, there stood, close at his side,

Twelve Sophomores with faces grim, and paddles large and wide.

So also you, my friends, had better watch what you're about,

Er the Sophomores'll git you

Ef you

don't watch

out!

And now our friend young Johnny says that when the night is dark,

When stormy winds no longer blow, when dogs no longer bark,

When crickets cease their chirping, and owls at last are still,

When sound no longer echoes in the halls upon the Hill,

You'd better mind the Juniors; respect the Seniors great,

An' always speak politely; it becomes your lowly state;

An' always help your comrades when they are 'round about,

Er the Sophomores'll git you

Ef you

don't watch

out!

Ode to a Theme

I.

A Book of Rhetoric underneath the Bough,
A sharpened Pencil, a new theme Pad—and Thou
The Bucknell Band beside me playing there—
Oh, Wilderness were Paradise enow!

II.

And those who labor hard their Thoughts to train,
And those who fling them to the Wind like Rain,
Alike by the most flagrant Despair are burned
As, written once, a Theme returns again.

III.

The written Style Men set their Hearts upon
Turns Ashes—or it pleases; and anon,
Like Students before Prexy's sombre face
Lasting a little Mite or two—is gone.

IV.

When You and I beyond these Halls are past,
Oh, how long the Dread of Themes will last,
Which of our Coming and Departing Heeds
As the Lord's Self should heed the Pride of Caste.

V.

Yesterday this Day's Writing did prepare;
Tomorrow's Reading, Crosses, and Despair;
Write! though you know not what you write, nor why.
Write! though you know not how you write, nor care.

VI.

The Teacher's Pencil writes; and having writ
 Moves on; nor all your maddest Rage nor Wit
 Shall lure it back to cancel half a Line,
 Nor all your Tears wash out a Word of it.

VII.

Oh Thou, who did'st with Rhetoric and Chagrin,
 Beset the themes I am to ramble in,
 Thou dost not with such evil Rule my Pen
 Enmesh, and then impute my Fall to Sin?

Prologue

Enter Chorus.

Ho! All ye people!
Come hither to-day,
And to our pageant
Give audience, we pray.

Of our famous professors
Here at Bucknell,
A few we present to you
And their oddities tell.

Their eccentricities
(You can't call them queer)
Only add charm to them,
Make them more dear.

But that they may see themselves
As they are seen,
Will form a right merry theme,
Truly, I ween.

Herald. Doctor Harris, President of Bucknell University.

Doctor Harris.

I am the president,
Prexie they style me;
Woe to the student
Who happens to rile me!

In my Psychology
I want the stuff;
I am the President,
That says enough.

Herald. The Muse of Roman Poetry, concerning Dr. Rockwood, Head of the Latin Department.

The Muse. This is a noble old Roman, a dignified pater familias,
Who from the lore of the ancients draws many a valuable lesson, Fitted to teach the poor Freshmen to strive after wisdom and prudence
That they may some day be Catos, the Juniors and Seniors of Bucknell.
Majestic he sits in his class room, while under his glances benignant,
Yet fearful to every offender, the timorous, verdant young Freshmen
Stumblingly, tremblingly, murder their much abused Pliny and Livy.

Herald. Professor Riemer, Head of the Department of Modern Languages, especially famous as a German teacher.

Prof. Riemer. Ich bin ein deutscher Lehrer, Bekannt im ganzen Land;
Nennt man die besten Namen
So wird auch Herr Riemer genannt.
Und was mir fehlt, O Klasse,
Vielleicht wird nie bekannt;
Nennt man die schlimmsten Necker
So wird auch Herr Riemer genannt.

Herald. Calliope, the Muse of Epic Poetry.

Calliope. When Fortune, ever favoring the College
That, lofty, rears on high its broad turrets
Above the Susquehanna flowing smooth
Around its base, desired to fill the chan
Of Ethics and of Rhetoric at Bucknell,
She sought the wide world o'er to find a man
Best suited for the place—a man who would Teach all a moral life to lead and be
One of the twenty to follow his own teaching—
She sought the wide world o'er, I say, for such A man, and found him finally in Doctor Phillips.

Herald. A dialogue between Fun and the Genus Loci of Bucknell.

Fun. I' faith, now tell me, if you can,
Who is this funny little man,
With gestures sweeping, broad and high,
And step so brisk and quick and spry?

Genus Loci. Thou impudent little whippersnapper!
Go, get thee home and tell thy mother to teach
Thee better than to speak thus of thy betters.
Thou art as little fitted to wonder
Through the shady precincts of old Bucknell
As is a bat within the sacred walls
Of Peter's or of Paul's. I'll none of thee.

Fun. Ho! Ho! Sirrah! It seems to me thou are
A trifle high flying in thy notions;
For know you my father and my brothers
Have dwelt here ever since the shady groves
Of old Bucknell were first established. And If thou art the true Genus of the place
A great deal of the Old Nick can be found Within the make-up of thy constitution.

But, laying all jokes aside, as the immortal Shakespeare once said, or should have said if he didn't, I came to er—let—me—see, er—I came—to—seek, yes, that's it, that's the word, precisely so, precisely so, exactly, e-x-a-c-t-l-y, I came to seek information, I came to ask for information. Don't you see?

Genus Loci. Well, then, my boy, if that be your desire
I may be moved to grant it unto you.
The greatest minds more often dwell within
The smallest body than within the house
Of a Goliath. He who has drunk deep
Of the fountain the Muses offer at Bucknell will know the depth of mind and heart,
Oft hidden by a ripple of quaint humor,
Of one of Bucknell's favorite professors—
Doctor Perrine.

Herald. Dr. Martin, the Versatile Librarian.

Dr. Martin. Yes, my dear young people,—I am able to talk to you about Anything that is in Heaven above,—or that is in the earth
Beneath,—or that is in the deep beneath the earth. A true style of Conversation is found in one who has drunk deep—deep—at the Fountain of knowledge—and who is able to impart that knowledge—
In a pleasing manner to all his friends.—Do we have a question Of art? Then go with me away back—back—almost beyond the ken
Of man—to the time when the feeling for rhythm first stirred within
The savage breast—to the time when man moulded images from clay—
And worshipped his own work.—Music—sculpture—painting—when did they first
Begin?—Who can be wise enough to tell?—And then the study of Mankind.—My, what a multitude of thoughts come thronging now—jostling—
Pushing—tumbling each over the other; the history of the Whole world is involved—the deepest problems—even down to the Most intricate puzzle of the sociology of today.—
How shall we solve them?—How can we lay our finger on the sore spot?—
And then how shall we cure it?—Here even in the library—we Have quite a little social problem on our hands.—Are we solving
It in the true Bucknellian spirit?—Can we be called the true
Bucknellians when we meet here to take a course in library?—
I sometimes fear—

Herald. (after vainly trying for some time to get a word in edgewise)
Excuse me, sir, but you perforce must stop;
We still have other professors to speak.

Dr. Martin. Well, then, perforce, I needs must leave. And so, with dignity and grace I shall betake myself unto my domicile.

Herald. (mopping his brow, announces with a sigh of relief)
Nowadaha, the musician, the sweet singer.

Nowadaha. Should you ask me, name these flowers,
Name these grasses, rocks, and bushes,
With the wild birds of the forests,
All the animals past and present,
Should you ask me why diseases,
Why our food should all be cleanly,
Why bacteria, fermentation,
Why the theory of phagocytosis
Was produced by Metchnikoff,
Why the animals have a memory,
Why the child creeps on the floor,
I should answer. I should tell you,
"Go to Davis, that great doctor.
From the tall pines of New Jersey
Came he to the fair Bucknellians
With his Sanitary Science,
With his human Osteology,
With his Botany and Geology,
Bacteriology, Physiology,
All the ologies of creation,
Came he to our land of Bucknell.
We who know him, do adore him,
He's our Doctor of Biology,
He's our Nelson Fithian Davis, Sc. D."

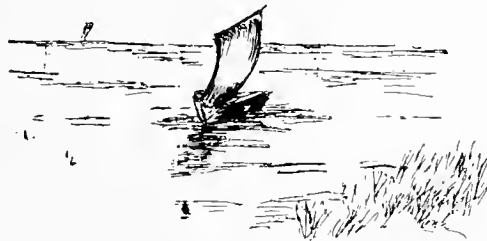

EPILOGUE.

Enter Chorus.

And now at the close of our pageant
Let all join in with a will
A health to the dear Old College
The crown and the pride of the Hill.

Dip deep in the purest fountain,
Loud let the glad shout swell;
Long live our grand old Professors!
Long live our grand old Bucknell!

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY 1914

JOHN M. FINN, '54.

To John M. Finn belongs the distinction of being one of the oldest, if not the oldest, living graduate of Bucknell. He was born in 1834 at the southeast corner of Seventh and Arch streets, Philadelphia. His grandfather had a place on the Delaware River about twenty miles below Philadelphia. On one occasion when still a youth, Mr. Finn was visiting his grandfather, when the latter entered the room accompanied by a stranger, Dr. Taylor, afterwards President of the University. Dr. Taylor was advocating the advantages of a collegiate education and the needs of the University at Lewisburg. Though not a word was addressed to the young man he was deeply impressed with what he heard. The result was that three months later, in the spring of 1850, he landed in Lewisburg. During his stay West Wing was completed, and he had the honor of being the first student to occupy a room in historic Main Building.

From the time he left Lewisburg until the year 1878 he was in active business at Seventh and Arch streets, Philadelphia, but three successive attacks of illness forced him to retire; having a penchant for rural life he moved to the country where he has spent a quiet life. He still has a lively recollection of his classmates—Zeigler, Taylor, Lowry, Foster, Jared Peters, Castle and Deitz. Like the great currents of the ocean drawing vessels journeying on their surface more directly and with greater speed towards their haven, so in watching with deepest interest the lives and works of his associates, he has perceived a higher trend in his own life.

OLIVER B. FINN, A.B., A.M., '89.

Oliver B. Finn of the class of '89, was born in 1865 at Philadelphia from which place he entered Bucknell. The three years immediately following his graduation were spent in the Mechanical Engineering Department of the University of Pennsylvania. From 1892 to 1897 he held positions with G. W. C. Ferris and Company and the Pennsylvania Railroad Company as Inspector of Bridges and Steel Construction. In 1897 he moved to Colorado to take a position as manager of a gold mine at Cripple Creek and since then he has followed Mining Engineering, holding positions as manager of mines in Cripple Creek, Colorado, in the state of Chihuahua, Mexico, and in California and Montana. He has also acted in the capacity of consulting engineer, examining gold and silver mines in almost all the mining states in the west and south and also in Canada. At present he is the General Manager of the Pan-American Mining and Exploration Company, which is now negotiating for some large gold dredging properties in the Yukon District, Alaska. He is a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

EDWIN HEISTER GUIE, '89.

In a list of the graduates of Bucknell who have attained success in the practice of law the name of Edwin H. Guie occupies a prominent position. While in college he took a prominent part in all the college activities and was one of the three associate editors of the first L'Agenda, published in 1889. After graduation he took up the practice of law in Seattle, Washington, and held various offices of honor and trust, finally becoming Speaker of the House of Representatives in the state of Washington in 1899. He is a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity.

REV. RAYMOND M. WEST, A.M., D.D., '89.

One of the most conspicuous figures in the Baptist denomination today is Raymond M. West, a member of the class of 1889. After graduation from Bucknell he entered Crozer Theological Seminary from which he graduated in 1892, immediately becoming pastor of the Lehigh Avenue Baptist Church of Philadelphia. Here he remained eleven years, closing a most successful and happy pastorate in 1903 to accept a call from the great First Church of St. Paul, Minnesota. In this pastorate, which has been for all its incumbents a bishopric, he found himself and commenced to draw upon his reserve resources. His ministry and influence extended over Minnesota and all the bordering states. During this pastorate he received the honorary title, Doctor of Divinity, from Denison University. In 1903, deciding to come eastward once more, he accepted the call of the Park Avenue Church of Rochester, where he is at the present time. Dr. West, besides being a helpful factor in the denominational life of the city of Rochester, is also very successful in giving courses in Biblical instruction to Y. M. C. A. classes, university students and young people's assemblies, and in speaking to laboring people in shop meetings and elsewhere. He is doing a large amount of work for the Baptist denomination in his state and also in connection with the Northern Baptist Convention. He is a member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

JESSE OLIVER SHIPMAN, Ph.B., '89.

One of the men whose activities while in college can be equaled only by his success since graduation is Jesse Oliver Shipman, a member of the class of 1889. After completing a course in Bucknell Academy he entered the University, graduating with the Ph.B. degree. While in college he was fullback on the varsity football team for two years, and captain of the varsity baseball team in his junior and senior years. He was also associate manager of the first L'Agenda, published in 1888. After graduation he began the practice of civil engineering in the service of the Lehigh Valley Railroad. Subsequently he was engaged in the service of the Niagara Power Development Company, the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad, and in various other engineering projects. Since 1900 Mr. Shipman has been engaged in the service of the Rapid Transit Railroad Commissioners of the City of New York, and their successors, The Public Service Commission of the State of New York, as engineer in charge of the construction of various municipal underground railroads. At present he is division engineer in charge of the construction of rapid transit lines in New York City. He is a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity.

JOSEPH M. WOLFE, A.B., A.M., '89.

Joseph M. Wolfe was born December 10, 1868, at Lewisburg, Pa. Early education was received at private school and Bucknell Academy; graduated from Bucknell in 1889 with the degree A. B.; was two years at Cornell University in the Engineering Course; took graduate work at Bucknell, 1891-92 and received the degree A.M. in 1892. While a student at Bucknell played on the football team for three years; was a member of the Cornell University crew in 1890 and 1891 and captain in 1891. Taught Sciences at Swarthmore Preparatory School, 1892-3; taught Mathematics at Pennsylvania State College, 1893-6; taught Mathematics and Military Science at Vermont Academy, 1896-1902. Instructor in Mathematics, Bucknell University, 1905-8; Assistant Professor of Mathematics, Bucknell University, 1905-8; Professor of Mathematics and Surveying, Bucknell University, 1908-9; Registrar, Bucknell University, 1909—. During the summers of 1903-8 was assistant at the Harvard Engineering Camp. Was a member of Company A, Twelfth Infantry, National Guard of Pennsylvania, 1885-1892, Second Lieutenant, 1892-3, Battalion Adjutant, 1893-7. Major and Inspector of Rifle Practice, First Brigade, Vermont National Guard, 1897-9; Captain and Commissary, First Infantry, Vermont National Guard, 1899-1902. Member of Board of Trustees of the Lewisburg Baptist Church and of the Board of Directors of the Lewisburg Trust and Safe Deposit Company. He is a member of the Masonic Fraternity, the Knights Templar, and the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

Songs of All the Colleges

¶ Three hundred and thirty pages of the songs that typify in every line the American college boy—330 pages of the joys, the pleasures, the enthusiasms, in fact, the spirit of college life. Beautifully bound in cloth—title stamped in gold, the worth of this collection is illimitable to the man who values the memories and associations of his undergrad days. Price postpaid $1.50.

The Most Popular College Songs

¶ For those who desire a less pretentious collection, The Most Popular College Songs in paper binding contains 130 of the old familiar college favorites and includes the Alma Mater Songs of the twenty-five largest universities in the United States. Price postpaid 50 cents.

Most Popular New College Songs

¶ A collection of the best of the new songs composed by the college boys and girls in recent years. These songs are just now becoming popular at the large colleges and universities throughout the United States, and their popularity will increase through the years because each song in the collection contains merit. Perhaps your favorite is here. Price postpaid 50 cents.

WHAT INSTRUMENT DO YOU PLAY?

¶ If you're interested in music of any kind for any instrument or any purpose, send us your name and address and we'll send you The "Most Popular" catalogue. Contains music for Violin, Piano, Cornet, Mandolin, Clarinet, Cello, Flute, etc. Songs for solo, quartet or chorus—in fact, something for everybody and at one-twentieth of the price you are accustomed to pay.
